Eyes of War-Frightened World on Spain

ITALY'S AIR ARMADA IS PREPARED

Britain Prohibits Plane Shipments; France And Russia in Warning

By the Associated Press
Spain's grave and bloody events echoed again and again today in the capitals of Europe.
With the civil war fighting itself apparently confined largely to a Fascist rebel attack which was stopped at the very edge of the Bay of Biscay city of Irun, there were these developments outside the chaotic peninsula.
Italy's Fascists kept their great air fleet ready for any emergency, but indicated a compromise Franco-Italian agreement of neutrality was in sight.

Italy Might Change
Discerning diplomatic circles predicted this Italian viewpoint would prevail as long as Gen.
Francisco Franco's Fascist rebels continue gaining ground in Spain.
Should Madrid, by the reason of receiving war materials, volunteers or money from France, gain the upper hand, Italy might be forced to change her stand, these diplomats stated.

Germany, an informed source stated, would recognize a rebel government in Spain as soon as it demonstrated its ability to preserve order and protect foreign lives and property—something the Reich has accused Socialist Spain of failing to do.

Spain in Charges
Great Britain, setting an example for other countries, clapped a flat embargo on both civil and military aircraft shipments to Spain, as well as on a score of other sinews of war. Authoritative quarters suggested it might be well for the United States or

BRUNO'S TAX CASE ENDED

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The government's income tax case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, executed for the kidnap murder of the Lindbergh baby, has been settled by the filing of a stipulation by his widow with the board of tax appeals.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, as executrix of her husband's estate, admitted that Hauptmann owed additional income taxes of $117.67 for 1932 and $1729.50 for 1933.
Hauptmann had been charged with a deficiency of $117.67 for 1932 and $5283.27 for 1933, together with penalties and interest which aggregated $9678.30 for two years.

Clubs Battle Over Sheppard

RIVERSIDE, (AP)—Charles C.
Hayes, of the Democratic county central committee, today led a fight against what he termed "coercion" of the Townsend pension club in Highgrove, Riverside suburb.
Hayes charged that the club is virtually being ex-communicated by the Townsend organization because members have declined to support Harry R. Sheppard of Yucaipa, Townsend-endorsed congressional candidate in the 19th district.

NEW THREAT TO ESKIMOS

Arctic Ice May Prevent Landing of Food For Starving Alaskans

BARROW, Alaska, (AP)—Danger of the Arctic ice pack shutting out the food-laden motorship North Star before it arrives here aroused apprehension among white residents today that many Eskimos may perish of starvation.
"The ice closes in along the coast early next month," said Dr.
Henry W. Greist, Presbyterian medical missionary, "and it's a gamble whether the supplies can be gotten to the area by boat this season."

The North Star was on its way from Seward to Nome where it was to stow additional supplies before sailing from Seattle aboard the Derby.

With the reloading done, the North Star must fly north through Bering Strait and then northeast along the ice-strewn Arctic ocean to Barrow.
Dr. Greist said a message from Capt. C. C. Pedersen, San Francisco trader, now in the Herschel Island area, forecast the starvation of many persons on Barter Island unless ample relief comes.

Approximately 500 Eskimos are short of food. Barter island, 275 miles east of Barrow, Herschel and Demarcation Island were the most affected.

Tobacco Heiress Gets Fortune

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—
The Twin City Sentinel said today that Mrs. Reynolds Babcock, daughter of the late E. J. Reynolds, had passed her 28th birthday and came into full control of her estimated $20,000,000 share of his tobacco fortune.
The Sentinel said that, although no formal announcement had been made, Mrs. Babcock, who now lives in Connecticut, had taken control of her share of the estate.

BONDS VOTED BY NEWPORT

City to Build $300,000 Sewage System And Disposal Plant

Newport Beach yesterday voted 10 to 1 in favor of a $300,000 bond issue for new sewage system and disposal plant. The light vote was 763 "yes" to 76 "no."
The vote, which maintained the city's reputation of never turning down a bond proposal, will be canvassed by the city council Monday night.
Immediate steps will be taken to sell a portion of the bonds and city officials will renew efforts to secure a federal grant of 45 per cent of the estimated cost of the sewage project. Final plans and specifications will be drafted immediately and sent to PWA officials.

Plans Are Rushed Actual construction of the new sewage disposal plant and mains to connect with various parts of the city will begin as soon as possible, officials reported. Some slight delay might be occasioned by the efforts to secure federal aid as approval of PWA engineers must first be secured on the plans before a grant can be secured.

The bonds voted are sufficient, however, to carry out the improvement even should the grant not be forthcoming. It was explained by city councilmen. A new sewage disposal plant costing approximately $180,000 and a sewer main connecting with Corona Del Mar and costing approximately $105,000 are the two major items provided in the bond issue. Some other money will be spent on outfall lines and repair of other mains.

FEAR MINERS ARE DEAD

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP)—Fear that four men trapped in a coal mine since 3:30 p. m., yesterday were dead was expressed today as dangerous black camp, water pools and burned timbers balked the frantic efforts of rescue crews.
The four, trapped more than 100 feet underground by fire while getting the mine ready for operation, were:
Demmer Sexton, 37, married and father of one child; A. W. McCann, 59, unmarried; George T. Dameron, 27, negro mule driver, married only a week ago.

CRASH DEATH TOLL TAKES JUMP HERE

County's 51st Victim of Traffic Dies at Hospital

His internal organs crushed when he hurtled from his motorcycle and struck a steel post at Washington and Main streets early Sunday, Richard Morgan, 25, of 2019 Kilson drive, died early today at St. Joseph's hospital.
Morgan's motorcycle collided with a car driven by Dr. Ralph E.
Hewes, Huntington Beach, as the latter was making a turn, and then was thrown across the intersection.

Try to Reach Sister
The statewide police teletype meanwhile broadcast messages from the local police department in a desperate attempt to reach Lena Morgan, his sister, thought to be working in a San Joaquin valley cannery.

Los Angeles police, too, were attempting to reach Miss Morgan as a man named Herschel Clark, thought to be her former husband, lay critically injured in a Los Angeles hospital as the result of an other accident.

Two Other Crashes
Paul Duncan, 21, Fullerton, was jailed on drunk driving charges by California highway patrol officers last night after he and Clifford Duncan, 22, Fullerton, were slightly injured in a car auto crash near Buena Park.

Their car, said to be driven by Paul Duncan, collided with an auto driven by LaVerne Moore, 22, Anaheim.

REDS ADMIT PLOT GUILT

MOSCOW, (AP)—Sixteen accused Trotskyist conspirators pleaded guilty in open court today to Soviet government charges they had plotted to seize power through an organized reign of terror in which Dictator Josef Stalin and other heads of the state would have been killed.
Prosecutors, at the opening of the trial, charged the plot was directly organized by Leon Trotsky, famous Bolshevik exile, and that the plotters hoped for international complications which would pave the way for overthrow of the government.
Franz Weitz, still at large, was named by prosecutors as the German agent who acted as a go-between between Berlin and Fritz David, one of the prisoners, who,
it was alleged, was to have killed Stalin at the Comintern congress last July.

David admitted attending the congress as a delegate but said he was unable to get close enough to shoot Stalin. He was alleged to have come to the Soviet Union with a Honduran passport and a 1000 Kroner check given him by Trotsky's son.

Trotsky himself is in Norway.
All the 16 defendants refused counsel and said they would defend themselves. But hardly had the session opened when Gregory Zinovieff, former high Bolshevik leader, accused as one of the masters of the conspiracy, rose and declared:
"I am guilty."

Clem Sheds More Light On WPA Investigation

Boys Sorry Now They Ran Through Traffic Signal

Note to burglars: Observe traffic signals.
Because two Riverside boys failed to stop at a signal at Fourth and Main streets yesterday afternoon, they were being held today on burglary charges.

Stopped by Officer F. L.
Grouard when they missed the stop, the boys assertedly confessed stealing cigarettes, cash, and other articles from a number of boats at Newport harbor yesterday. They gave their ages as 15 and 13 years.

Following questioning here when Officer Grouard found the boot stored in the rear of their automobile, the boys were released to Newport police for further investigation.

BUY VENTURA NEWSPAPER

Purchase of the Ventura Free Press by the Ventura County Star was announced today by John P.
Scripps, E. E. Elstrom and Roy Pinkerton, owners and publishers of the Star and of The Santa Ana Journal.
The publishers stated that they would change the Free Press from the afternoon into the morning field and continue its publication independent of the Star, starting next week.

The Free Press was bought from Dan Emmett, prominent Ventura county rancher and civic figure, who has just retired as state commissioner of the American Legation.
The consideration was not revealed.

Established in 1875 the Free Press is the oldest newspaper in Ventura. It had changed hands several times since the founding of the Star 11 years ago. It was owned by E. B. Clancy before Emmett bought in several months ago. Prior to that time it was published by H. O. Davis, former Ventura executive, and before that by Oscar Conklin and David Reese.

The publishers said they felt that they would serve the community better by changing the Free Press into a morning paper rather than by merging it with the Star in the afternoon, thereby giving the county all-day news coverage.

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—From his sick bed in a Mayo clinic hospital Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota today urged "liberals" to unite "to re-elect Franklin Roosevelt and prevent the election of reactionary Alfred Landon."
The Farmer-Labor governor set forth his sentiments in a telegram to Senator Robert La Follette (Progressive, Wisconsin) which he dictated in the infirmary where he is being treated for a stomach ailment.

ATTITUDE IS REVEALED BY DIRECTORS

Water Cost Data Not Announced at Meet
In Laguna Beach

By 'BRICK' GAINES
If Orange county desires to join the Metropolitan Water District for importation of Colorado river water here—

It may be called upon to join without knowing what it will have to pay for the water;
It must pay an initial charge equal to the amount which would have been paid since the start of the aqueduct;

It would have to act quickly to enable the district to construct a permanent instead of temporary pipeline into the county;

AND, it may have a difficult time trying to join because the MWD directors aren't particularly anxious to have the county as a part of their district.

That, in brief, is the information imparted to members of the Orange County Coast Association and the Associated Chambers of Commerce, county officials, ranchers and water experts of the county in a joint meeting last night at Laguna Beach held to discuss the possibility of county annexation to the MWD.

Lengthy Discussion
The statements regarding the board's stand followed a long discussion on merits of the metropolitan project and repeated questioning on the part of county ranchers and others regarding cost of water delivered to county agriculturists.
The principal question, which went virtually unanswered, was summed up by one speaker as "How thin is the water going to be spread, and what is it going to cost?"

Low Cost Assured Charges by county men that the water district wanted the county to buy "a pig in a poke" when the question of joining with the district for the purpose of importation of water here was mentioned, was answered by statements that the water price would be low enough to meet with ap-

Knock, Knock! Who's There? $1 Every Day!

"Knock, knock!"
"Who's there?"
"Opportunity."
"Opportunity who?"
"Opportunity to win a dollar any day in the week, or a month's subscription to The Journal."

Everyone's playing this game.
It's goofy, it's awful, it's the lowest form of wit, but everyone's playing it, and The Journal is going to play it until the contest is called off. The Journal will give one dollar in cash each day for the best "Knock, knock" turned in to this office, and a month's subscription to The Journal for the second best.

It's an easy game to play, and a lot of fun, if you believe the millions who play it every day. You start with "knock, knock," and end up with a pun—the more absurd the better.

Some "Knock knock" are so well known The Journal will start by acknowledging them—for instance the London "knock knock."

Someone says "Knock, knock!"
and someone else answers "Who's there?" "London," is the reply.

"London who?" And the answer,
"London bridge is falling down."
Or the Roosevelt "knock, knock." The answers—"When I awoke and Roosevelt awful." Or "Roosevelt awful when I kicked her."

Get it? It goes on and on.
There's the Mary Astor "knock, knock." "Astor who?" "Astor if she keeps a diary."

There will be no prizes paid for these well-known knock, knocks.
The Journal is after newer and funnier ones.

Get in the game today. The sky's the limit, and there's gold in them that puns. Send yours in at once, before somebody steals your idea.

Remember, The Journal will pay one dollar a day for the best, and a month's subscription each day for the second best.
Some pun, huh?

Mystery Baffles Readers of Novel

Mildred Snow Gleason has long been known as one of the nation's most engrossing writers of mystery novels. But enthralling as every one of her previous works has been, never has she achieved the heights of excitement that her new story, "House-Party Murder," represents. Charged with electric dread, and vivid with characterization, it will keep you counting the hours waiting for its every ensuing chapter. "House-Party Murder" starts Friday in The Journal.

ATTACK TOLD BY PICKER AT STRIKE

How a mob of Mexican strikers, armed with hammers and wrenches, attacked pickers in the Gackstetter grove north of Orange July 6 was told in superior court today by Thomas Vega, a picker, in the second day of trial of five Mexicans on charges of rioting.

He said the group attempted to strike E. M. Edwards, guard, but that he did not see Edwards struck.

"Told Him to Shoot"
"I told him (Edwards) to shoot. Then I asked him to give me the gun," Vega testified in relating the attack. Later he said:

"If he'd given me the weapon everything would have come out all right."

Vega identified Roberto Felix as one who struck him with a hammer, and said Esteban Rodriguez, another defendant, was among the alleged rioters.

Attacks Identification
Defense Attorney Grover Johnson, however, attacked Vega's identification, which the latter said was based solely on Rodriguez' eyes. Laughter of spectators as Johnson asked Vega to compare Rodriguez' eyes with those of Charles Carrillo, court interpreter, brought a warning from Judge James L. Allen.

Jurors selected late yesterday are Mrs. Amelia B. Keech, Clara S. Coupland, Edith Worsham, Mrs. Margaret E. Clem, Mrs. Frank Richmond, Frank J. Snyder, Mary Williams, Joseph H. Bortz, Floe Wallace, Mrs. Phyllis M. Swales, Velma Pomeroy and Virginia Davidson.

POMONA HEARS DR. RUSSELL
The world must protect itself by eugenic sterilization of the unfit, unless they eventually outnumber the fit, Dr. Edward Lee Russell of the county health department warned members of the Orange county Pomona grange last night at Garden Grove.

The Pomona unit met with the Garden Grove unit for a 6 o'clock pot-luck dinner.

Dr. Russell presented data showing the trend of the inferior to outnumber the superior of the human race, until the acceleration of that trend has choked state institutions, and burdened the people with taxes, until eventually it will become no longer possible for the few superior to carry the ever-increasing load of inferiors.

The speaker deplored the fact that many normal people are voluntarily sterilized in order to avoid parenthood, and said that society should not contentance this trend, but in self-protection should enforce sterilization of the unfit. W. O. Eades, grange overseer, was elected alternate to the state convention Oct. 20 at Eureka, during the business session. Master Robert Wardlow of Wintersburg grange was appointed to place a Pomona grange exhibit in the San Diego county fair Oct. 8 to 12. Reports were given by Elmer Everett, Mrs. Roy Corry and Charles Decker.

HERE'S HOW THEY'RE VOTING ON THE PARKING METERS

Yes, 8, no, 24.

There's how the first ballots in The Journal's poll on parking meters rolled in. More kept swishing into the ballot box today as Santa Anans registered approval and protest on the city council's proposal to install nickel parking meters along downtown streets.

You drop in a nickel and your car stays there for an hour without a balful glance. But at the end of an hour, at a fiendish mechanical signal, up comes a traffic cop and you visit the judge.

Fear for Trade
Most opponents of the scheme are fearful that parking meters may drive rural trade to other parts of the county, just through the petty annoyance of having to drop a nickel in a machine, there by paying again for government service.

Those who favor it say it is the solution to Santa Ana's parking problem, which is a congested one. They point to the sentiment in

MWD TAX MORE ABOUT

probation of ranchers and yet aid in lowering the tax rate for city members.

Difficulties in estimating probable cost of the imported water were explained by Prof. Franklin Thomas, vice president of the board, and other speakers. The need for broadening the base of distribution, thus lowering cost of delivery to ranchers and member cities, was pointed out.

With the main point of argument centering around probable cost of the water delivered here, action was finally taken by the group in urging further study of the situation by the Orange county water district board, which will be aided by the water companies of the Associated Chambers and the Coast association, with the latter two groups to aid in dissemination of information to the public.

Probability that a main line will be built through Santa Ana canyon to furnish this district with water, if favorable action is taken in a county-wide membership, also was indicated last night. Members of the water board said it would be very convenient to know, at this time, probable action on the part of the county, so that the main line could be built instead of a temporary branch.

To obtain membership in the Metropolitan district, steps must be taken to form a corporation under the public utility district act, or one of the county water district acts, for the purpose of annexation, board members said. This action would not affect cities already in the district, namely Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, and an initial charge equal to what would have been paid since formation of the Metropolitan district would be required, it was pointed out.

"Political Reasons"
Members of the board were hoping to come to last night's meeting fully prepared to quote probable cost of the water delivered here, one speaker stated, and the reason that no approximate cost could be set was because of "political reasons at home" (Los Angeles).

Professor Thomas made the closest guess at cost of water when he said it would not be so expensive as water in the Glendora foothill area, where a reported price of $30 per acre foot is paid, nor would it be as low as the rate charged by the Los Angeles aqueduct directors to ranchers in the San Fernando valley district, which is between $4.50 and $8, he said.

The San Fernando price is below cost of importing the water for two reasons, Professor Thomas said. First, because the valley comprises a huge sinking fund, and water placed there is later removed and used again for urban purposes. Second, because of the huge rainfall in assessed valuations in the district due to development. He added that valuations have jumped from $50 per acre to $1000 since sale of the cheap water.

Questions Answered
Members of the MWD board presented a list of answers to seven questions prepared by officials of the two county groups. The first, relating to cost of water, went unanswered. To the second, asking possibility of districts not affiliated with MWD purchasing water, the board replied that it would be necessary to join to obtain any water.

To the third question, "How

QUIZ NEGRO ON WOMAN KILLINGS

CHICAGO, (AP)—Turning swiftly from Ruff Swain's confession that he killed Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell, investigators questioned the accused and sinner today concerning the slaying of two other women.

Captain Daniel Gilbert said Swain, 27, admitted last night he bludgeoned and choked Mrs. Trammell, 24, to death last Saturday night.

After the prisoner reaccepted the crime in the room she occupied in the State hotel, officials rushed him to the criminal courts building for interrogation about the violent deaths of Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, 24, night club beauty, and Mrs. Lillian Guild, 59, connoisseur of antiquities.

Same Technique
In all three cases, Gilbert said, the assailant stole up hotel fire escape, crept into the rooms of his victims and broke their skulls with heavy blows.

This similarity in technique, he added, "led to a suspicion that Swain may be responsible for one or both of the other deaths."

Mrs. Castle was found dead June 29 and Mrs. Guild on May 9. Captain Gilbert quoted Swain as saying:

"I wanted money Saturday night. So I climbed the fire escape of the hotel and went into the first room I saw with a light burning. The woman was standing in a corner."

Found no Money
"She didn't have many clothes on. She said to me 'what do you want here? What are you going to do?'" I told her to give me some money.

"I saw she was going to scream and I choked her. I didn't have much trouble and pretty soon she stopped kicking. I threw her across the bed and just to make sure she wasn't fooling I picked up the water pitcher and hit her on the head."

"I couldn't find any money so I ran away."

much longer will such districts have opportunity to join the MWD?" the answer was that the policy of the board is to limit annexation to such areas as can be adequately served, and this will finally require limitation of the district's area. The directors further added that delay in joining would gain nothing for any district, as an amount equal to what would have been paid had the area joined at first will be required.

"Can Orange county join as a political unit?" was the fourth query, to which the board answered that a corporation must be formed for annexation, since the county, as a political unit, is not eligible.

'Plenty of Water'
To the question, "Would the taking of membership by the Orange County Water district secure all the water needed?" the board replied: "Assuming that the present policy of limiting annexation to areas for which the supply would be permanently adequate is maintained, there would appear to be no danger of any part of the MWD being short of water. It is assumed in all cases that the operation of local supplies up to, but not in, excess of their permanent safe yield, will be continued."

Asked if irrigated county lands outside of the member cities were organized into district, each joining as a separate unit, how many districts would there be, the board replied that it was a matter of local expediency, but a single unit was desirable.

To the last question, "What precaution could be taken to prevent small districts from remaining outside the MWD and continuing to pump from the water supply released as the other member districts ceased pumping?" the board suggested that the best means of avoiding this would be to bring in the entire area at one time.

Predict Low Cost
In discussing cost of water to Orange county ranchers, several members of the board declared they felt sure that when the aqueduct is completed, three years hence, and boundaries of districts finally laid out, the low price of water would be probably assured users, adding that sale of water would be at a price to "meet with approval of users and yet lower tax rates for the districts."

Included in board members and representatives of the engineering staff attending the session were Professor Thomas, vice-president; Col. S. H. Finley, Santa Ana director; Walter Humphries, Fullerton director; Victor Orzatti and John R. Richards, Los Angeles directors; Julian Heinz, assistant chief engineer; J. H. Howard, general counsel; C. C. Elder, hydrographic engineer.

H. H. Hale, Placentia, and W. T. Wallop, Anaheim, both officials of the Anaheim Union Water company, expressed approval of the general plan for bringing in water, but both insisted upon knowing prices to be paid for the product. Roy Browning, Irvine Company engineer, also insisted on knowing costs before taking any action.

Other Speakers
Other speakers discussing possibilities of obtaining the water were George Kellogg, Yorba Linda, past president of the Associated Chambers; Ralph McFadden, Placentia rancher and farm bureau official; V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Chamber of Commerce; O. T. Stephens, prominent La Habra citrus grower; Floyd McCracken, Anaheim newspaperman; R. D. Flaherty, assistant farm advisor, and others.

Flaherty suggested that the Orange County Water District board be charged with investigating the situation for the entire county.

Hungry Elks Threaten Life Of Mormon Town

HOLBROOK, Ariz. (AP)—Residents of the farming community of Heber, pioneer Mormon town, the Black Canyon, 50 miles southwest of here, claimed today their very existence is threatened by herds of elk which they said have eaten and trampled crops until they are practically worthless.

The farmers said the situation is so serious the only question now is whether the community will survive, and the farming lands be turned into an elk reserve.

firing employees, and use of the local office as a "headquarters for Ham Cotton's one-man political machine."

Clem, in a letter to Mrs. J. O. Rayne, secretary of the county committee, yesterday resigned his office as president. A successor will probably be named Aug. 30, he said.

"I'm not even interested," Mulhern told The Journal today as he refused to make any further statement on the charges. Yesterday he termed the attacks by Clem and other Young Democrats as an attempt "to make a political football out of the WPA" and said the attacks were instigated by disgruntled former employees of WPA.

Those Statements Again
Members of the Clem faction intimated when the charges were first disclosed that WPA officials, knowing that the investigator was in Santa Ana, had quietly collected signed statements by a number of employees to the effect that the discharge of several men was justified. Officials denied this.

But Clem today said the letters he had received from Johnson asked him whether 20 persons whose names were signed to statements in his possession were still WPA employees, and whether one name signed to a statement was correct. He said he received one eight days ago and the other five days ago, answering both promptly.

Clem's Letter
His resignation letter said in part:

"In view of the fact that certain events have occurred which have drawn me into a faction fight and the statements which I might make as an individual might in some way reflect against the Young Democrats of Orange county, and cause discord among our own group, and in order to avoid any possibility of making some mistake that would involve the Young Democrats by some word or action that I may say or do, I wish to resign from the office of president."

He said he would continue to devote as much time as possible to Young Democrats affairs in the capacity of a member.

30 BURGLARIES HERE SOLVED

At least 30 burglaries here in the last six months were solved last night when Police Detective Hunter Leach arrested a 16-year-old Santa Ana schoolboy, who confessed a long series of thefts which have been bothering police recently.

Arrested at his home following a tip from a burglary victim, the boy, whose name The Journal is not using because of his age, was booked at the county jail.

In his possession were a leather portfolio and flashlight reported stolen from the home of Gail Jordan, 1725 North Main street. He admitted visiting 30 other homes and buildings during the past six months, and showed Leach each place as they drove around the city. His loot consisted principally of money, radios, and articles of jewelry, which he had cached in his room.

COUNTY LIONS STAGE PICNIC

More than 250 members of county Lions clubs and their families picnicked at Anaheim city park last night, put away a barbecue dinner and watched the Laguna Beach Lions club win the inter-club softball championship.

Juggling and musical acts formed the entertainment program, put on by the Anaheim Lions club, host to the monthly county council session.

Laguna Beach club's softball team won out in the finals by defeating Santa Ana, 10-7, after the Santa Anans weakened from playing 12 straight innings.

This suggestion met with some opposition, and it was finally agreed to name the water committees from the two county groups to work with them. Willis Warner, Huntington Beach, chairman of the county water district, added that the district already was pursuing an investigation of the proposition and would carry on the work either with or without backing of the county organizations.

MINISTER IS DAMAGED TO FACING 11 CHARGES BOY AFTER 9 YEARS

Facing prosecution on nine counts of statutory crimes against small boys and two counts of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, the Rev. Howard F. Nason, former pastor of the Advent Christian church in Tustin was bound over to superior court today.

A private hearing behind closed doors in Santa Ana justice court resulted in the Rev. Mr. Nason being held to answer. Only one state charge had been filed, but after hearing testimony of a group of Tustin youngsters and parents, Justice Kenneth E. Morrison held the defendant on 11 counts.

The pastor was arrested Aug. 8 after an irate delegation of Tustin business men had called at the district attorney's office and demanded he be prosecuted on charges of morals offenses against a number of boys. He was a former Scoutmaster and had been a leader in youth work in Tustin.

Swath criticism was heaped on him by attorneys and court officers after the Rev. Mr. Nason, through R. M. Crookshank, his attorney, waived his constitutional right to a public hearing. He also asked that witnesses be kept from conferring with each other or with their parents concerning the testimony. This motion was granted.

Three representatives of the Ministerial association presented a letter to Justice Morrison before the proceedings, asking that they be allowed to remain in court, but the judge refused this request, and constables cleared the court and closed the doors.

Bail remained at $10,000 and the defendant was returned to jail.

Decision Affirmed
A jury awarded damages of $1950, and Cleaver appealed. The district court of appeal, however, affirmed the decision in 1931, and Cleaver paid $2556.28 in settlement of the judgment.

Young Parra's father and guardian, however, had died in the meantime, and Wetlin no longer had authority to accept the money or agree to a settlement, Judge Ames held. This ruling also was affirmed by the appellate court.

The award today was based on the appellate court's decision invalidating the former settlement, and directs the money to be paid to Mrs. Manuela Rattan Singh, the boy's mother, who has been appointed legal guardian.

Debate Held On Chain Stores
Growth of chain stores since 1910 proves that they are filling an economic need, Professor Barnard of Loyola college declared last night at weekly session of the Forum for Political and Economic Education.

Barnard discussed merits of the chain store system, while William Gray advanced arguments in favor of independently-owned stores through competition.

Capital of the systems permit employment of specialists in buying, transportation, accounting, salesmanship and advertising, Barnard said. It also permits selling a standardized product at lower cost and has forced improvements in independent stores.

But a larger proportion of the consumer's dollar remains in the community when spent at an independent store, Gray averred. He quoted federal statistics showing that salespeople earn 30 per cent more in independent businesses than in chain stores.

Extension of the chain system to production has eliminated wholesalers and jobbers to an extent that contributes to the present unemployment problem, he stated.

Two Nabbed As Drunk Drivers
Two asserted drunk drivers found themselves in the county jail this morning as the result of arrests by sheriffs and California Highway Patrol officers last night.

Frank Keenan, 31, Santa Ana truck driver, was beginning a 75-day sentence on a drunk driving charge. Paul Duncan, 22, Fullerton, was arrested on similar charges last night by patrol officers after an accident near Buena Park.

Beer Parlor Raid Rumors Denied
"I've been getting telephone calls from a woman who says our beer parlor's going to be raided by police. What about it?"

It was Mrs. Sam Lewis, Sunset Beach, telephoning the sheriff's office at an early hour this morning. She said the strange woman had been calling for an hour and a half, off and on.

Sleepy deputies said they didn't know anything about a raid, and Mrs. Lewis felt better.

a South American republic to eventually step in as Spanish peacekeepers.

With Paris officials warning that any out-and-out Italian assistance to Spanish rebels would mean French departure from her official position of neutrality, Paris diplomats reported the Madrid government was drawing up an international letter to prove Spain's Fascist insurgents are backed by foreigners, notably Italy.

Soviet Russia's press took occasion to warn that the Spanish strife might spread into a general European conflict.

Spanish War Vets Honor Couple On Anniversary

Accompanying their gift with congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Rowe upon their 28th wedding anniversary, members of Calumet camp and auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, presented an automobile robe to the couple last night at a meeting of the two groups in K. of C. hall.

Rowe is a past commander of the post, and has managed the drum and fire corps for several years. Mrs. Rowe is a member of the auxiliary drill team.

Charles I. Ragan was appointed chairman of the next pot-luck dinner committee, with Edward E. Patmore, Henry H. Sands and Frank P. Rowe assisting him. The dinner is slated for Aug. 25, in Anaheim city park. Each family is to bring table service and covered dishes.

The October picnic of the Citrus Belt U. S. W. V. club will be held in Irvine park, with Calumet camp as joint sponsor with Fullerton and Long Beach organizations.

New Members added were Thomas A. Crane, Santa Ana; Olin Cargay, Costa Mesa, and Claude O. Seaman, Westminster.

OIL PRODUCTION DOWN ONE HALF

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A reduction of nearly 50 per cent in the producing capacity of California oil fields since a year ago was disclosed today in a report by J. R. Pemberton, state oil umpire.

In mid-year of 1935, the estimated potential output was 1,723,941 barrels daily; in June, 1936, the estimate was 957,837 barrels. Pemberton said.

In the face of increased drilling, completions are fewer and the normal decline of production has been accelerated, the umpire declared.

MURDER TRIAL POSTPONED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Trial of James Henderson, Alpine, Texas, cattleman, on a charge of first-degree murder, has been postponed until Sept. 21, it was announced today. Henderson is charged with killing James Leroy Patton, 50-year-old beer parlor proprietor, when he found him in a room with Mrs. Leona Henderson, the cattleman's 24-year-old bride.

Postponement of the trial was due to congested court calendars and the desire of the defense for more time to prepare its case.

Churches Protest Tango Games

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The Federated Church Brotherhood of California Tuesday sent letters protesting the operation of tango games in Los Angeles and vicinity to Gov. C. F. Merriam, Attorney General U. S. Webb, District Attorney Buron Fitts and other officials.

The letters, signed by A. M. Wilkinson, M. D., chairman of the board of directors of the organization in Los Angeles, said the state did not tax tango games because they were illegal, and yet they were permitted to operate without interference, making large profits.

Former Local Resident Dies

Mrs. Thelma Noble Wilson, wife of George R. Wilson, former Santa Ana, died yesterday afternoon at her home in Pasadena. The Wilsons lived here for a number of years. His father, G. E. Wilson, was a deputy sheriff of Orange county and city marshal.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Pasadena, at the Ives-Warren mortuary, 100 North Hill street.

She is survived by her husband and their two children, Dwight and Lelia June, Pasadena, and a niece, Mrs. John Hayes, El Modena, and other relatives in Corona.

SCHOLARSHIP TO J.C. GRAD

Award of a full scholarship at the University of Southern California for a year to Edna Wilson, Santa Ana Junior college graduate and editor of the 1936 Delta, was announced this week.

Miss Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wilson, 1215 West First street, plans to enroll in the school of journalism. She majored in this subject at the junior college, serving on various college publications and on the student staff which edited an edition of The Journal this spring.

She will leave here Sept. 18 to register for opening of classes Sept. 21. Other Santa Ana young people who are to study at the university this year include Walter Bandick, Jack Pegues and Patricia McClure.

Driver Drunk, Jury Decides

A day-long jury trial ended in disappointment yesterday for Sylvester Vasquez, 21, Costa Mesa, when a justice court jury found him guilty of misdemeanor drunk driving.

The charge grew out of an accident on West Fourth street July 15, in which a car assertedly driven by Vasquez knocked two small boys from a bicycle. The jury was out an hour and 44 minutes.

Through his attorney, Robert Crowley, Vasquez asked probation. Hearing on the application was set for Aug. 28.

REMODELING AT PENNEY'S FINISHED

F. A. JONES
Manager of J. C. Penney Co.

Looking forward to another era of progress in its business here, J. C. Penney company tomorrow will reopen its enlarged and completely redecorated store at Fourth and Bush streets.

Modern fixtures and decoration prevail in the main floor section, which has been rearranged and departmentalized, and in the newly added second floor, which adds 10,000 square feet to the selling space and more than doubles the size of the institution. All day today the store was closed for final decoration and rearrangement.

Tomorrow at 9 a. m. the doors will be thrown open for the first public view of the completed store. Special prices will prevail in all departments to celebrate the event, Manager F. A. Jones announced.

New Employees

Sixteen new full-time employees have been added, bringing the sales and business force to 42 persons. In addition there are a number of "extras" to aid during the heavier trading periods.

The expansion is the second in J. C. Penney's 12 years in Santa Ana. The first store was established in 1924 at 316 East Fourth street. Its expanding business brought it in 1927 to its present location. Again the business grew.

"When I came here in 1931, general business was slack, but we started to work and have been growing all through the depression. This growing business has justified the addition of space which we have needed for two years," stated Manager Jones.

Store Departmentized

With the expansion has come more complete departmentizing of the store, making specific classes of merchandise easier to find, but the institution will continue its "family store" policy.

"When a family comes in, the wife may want hosiery or dry goods, the children shoes, and the husband work clothing. They get a clerk who goes with them from department to department. It's more convenient for the shopper, and we will continue the policy," reported Jones.

New Second Floor

Most spectacular of the store's new improvements is the second floor. Formerly occupied by offices, a dance floor, a labor union headquarters and a real estate concern, it has been converted into a modern clothing salon.

All in one large, richly-carpeted room are the ready-to-wear, coats and dresses, cotton shop, millinery shop, foundation garments, baby department, boys' department, and drapery department. Each department is clearly labeled in the modern style of cut-out lettering against a light background. Decorations are in pastel shades.

Coats and dresses now are carried in better lines than formerly carried, as well as the popular price range.

Enlarge Main Floor

Modern fixtures and displays add convenience and beauty to the new millinery shop.

On the mezzanine floor, formerly devoted to ready-to-wear, will be found piece goods, patterns, and bedding. The floor has been remodelled completely.

Expansion to the second floor has made way for enlargement and rearrangement of the main floor, as well as redecoration.

A women's furnishings department will offer hosiery, lingerie, and sweaters. There will be a complete children's department.

The shoe department will be found in the rear of the main floor, but its has been enlarged and improved.

The men's clothing department has been enlarged and completely rearranged for the convenience of customers.

POLICE REPORTS

After Joe McKee, 62, a WPA worker, suffered a stroke and the curb on West Fifth street yesterday, police called an ambulance. McKee's head was cut when he struck the car's fender.

City Auditor Lloyd Banks got a little first-class assistance from the police department last night when officers closed a window left open in his house and left him a note telling him they'd been there. Mrs. Bess Wood, a neighbor, reported the Banks family was away and said the window was open.

Arrested early this morning on indecent exposure charges, Canario Solario, 31, El Modena, was released on $10 bail. He was to appear in city court this afternoon.

Police were searching today for an unidentified woman who forged the name of Lola Pimentel to a state unemployment relief warrant for $15.71, then cashed it at a downtown department store in payment for a pair of children's shoes.

COURT BRIEFS

Mrs. Minnie Hanson yesterday asked the superior court to award her title to a lot in Los Angeles county previously held in joint tenancy by her and her son, John P. Hanson, who died April 20.

Mrs. Artie Baker, Orange, yesterday petitioned the superior court to terminate the interest of her late husband, Pierre H. Baker, in several pieces of Orange county property formerly held jointly by the couple. She also asked letters of administration in Baker's estate, consisting of about $750 in personal property.

Alcott Morron Encinas of El Modena, yesterday filed the will of his late mother, Mrs. Ramona Encinas, for probate in the superior court. The will names him heir to the estate, consisting of a house and lot in El Modena.

DIAL BRINGS KVOE DANCE PROGRAM

For those who would like the best kind of dance music in the early evening, KVOE will provide it at 7:15 to continue for an hour. The last quarter-hour of the dance program will feature "Through the Hollywood Lens" with Sterling Young and his studio orchestra, the "Four Directors" and a Hollywood "spinning" by the Hollywood Reporter. Tunes will include "Headin' for the Sunny South," "There's a Small Hotel" and "We'll Rest at the End of the Trail."

The Salon Strings, at 8:15 tonight, will offer a variety of musical interpretations with "Scarecrows on Parade," "Crying for the Moon," "Heavenly Night," and "Those Good Old Horse and Buggy Days." Maurice Gursky will be the guest soloist.

Bicycle and Auto Strippers Busy

Three Santa Anas were out $16 worth of automobile and bicycle accessories today as the result of petty thieves' activities last night.

Fred Wimer, 105 South Ross street, reported a radiator cap and ornament worth $1.50 were stolen from his car. H. C. Catman, 1713 Jefferson place, said two fender guides worth $1.66 were taken from his car at Olive bowl, and Walter Granath, Orana, reported theft of a $2 bicycle headlight from in front of 312 North Main street.

Deputy to Fill in for Musick 'Named'

A new deputy sheriff to substitute for James Musick while Musick plays professional football in the East for the coming season will be named within two weeks.

He already has been named, in fact, but Sheriff Logan Jackson declined to reveal the name of the appointee.

"Musick is now taking a two-weeks vacation," Jackson said. "In two weeks his leave of absence will start, and then I'll announce who is to take his place."

Jackson said the new deputy would go on duty Aug. 31.

Hunt Youthful Cycling Prowler

A prowler who uses a bicycle to get from place to place is the latest wrinkle in police reports, according to officers who today were searching for an over-all clad youth who rides a squeaky cycle.

J. B. Wilsey, 409 Richard street, reported the stranger last night, but he had fled before officers reached the scene. Wilsey said he was riding a bicycle up the alley in back of the Wilsey house, and appeared to be carrying a bar over his shoulder.

Rubinoff Keeps Up Violin, Although He Wields Baton

In a recent interview at the studios of the World Broadcasting System in New York where he is now busy with his new series of "Musical Moments" broadcasts heard regularly on KVOE Mondays and Wednesdays at 7 p. m., Dave Rubinoff, world-famed maestro-violinist, discussed the tendency prevalent among modern orchestral leaders to give up playing for conducting.

"When a substantial measure of contemporary fame has been obtained, orchestra leaders seem to be almost unanimous in favor of discarding their musical instruments for batons. But just as a captain must be a sailor first, last, and always, it is my opinion that a conductor must be a musician first, last, and always. As a result I consider my work as a violinist quite as important as my activities as a conductor. The favor that I have found as a conductor I trace directly to the fact that I am still a violinist. The favor I find as a violinist I attribute to a wise choice and earnest endeavor."

Jan Pearce, tenor, will be Rubinoff's guest artist tonight.

Buddy Elsen, the dancer, has an extensive library on ships and the sea.

OFFICIALS HERE FOR OPENING

Three high officials of the J. C. Penney company will be present tomorrow morning to congratulate F. A. Jones, manager of the local store, on the reopening of the enlarged and redecorated store at Fourth and Bush streets, it was announced today.

They are H. C. Amstutz, district manager, of Los Angeles; N. F. Sheeley, New York ready-to-wear buyer, and Walter Reynolds, New York sales manager. Amstutz and Sheeley have been in Santa Ana this week aiding in final plans.

"For the size of the community, the Santa Ana store does as much business as any in California," stated Amstutz. "It's an indication that we have a great many friends in Santa Ana and the surrounding community."

In charge are Charles Reed and

HAWAIIANS ON AIR TONIGHT

"When the Moon Comes Up at Night," "Honolulu, How Do You Do," "Kohala March" and a waltz number will be played by John Frisby, Warner Kirkpatrick and Lloyd Deavers, the "Aloha Hawaiians," in response to requests on KVOE at 5:15 this evening.

"Today's History by Radio" or "History in the Making" titles this evening's "You and Your Radio" broadcast to be made at 5:30, an analysis of current developments in radio that have changed things for the present generation in contrast to the way our forefathers lived. Striking contrasts will be pointed out and several interesting facts will be revealed.

Classics, light classics and popular ballads will be heard in this evening's presentation of special piano arrangements by Belle Hamilton at 6:15 when she will play Drda's "Souvenir," Victor Herbert's "Kiss in the Dark," and the melodies "Lost," "Would You" and "Cross Patch."

Spinning the sports wheel: Washington State's golf coach, Ray Hall, and family are spending a few days with Mr. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, 1617 Spurgeon street. En route to Santa Ana he visited with graduates of the university. The Cougar coach came to The Journal searching for Clyde Cook, the Santa Ana High instructor who was a former pitcher for Washington State's baseball varsity.

Lois Terry, the good-looking blonde who ranks as Southern California's greatest feminine softball twirler, says she likes to pitch in Santa Ana because the fans are such good sports. She requested tonight's return game with the Tiernan Typists.

Helen Mabe, one of The Journal's proofreaders, was certain Joe Louis would floor Jack Sharkey in the third round. She told me so hours before the fight.

Bill Neufeld, coach of Riverside Jaycees' perennial truck champions, was a spectator at the Olympic Games.

What do wives of the players and managers talk about during the nightball games?

Mrs. George Lackaye and Mrs. Charley Zabbia (Zaby to you) spent most of the time discussing recipes and the art of cooking between innings of the Anaheim-Santa Ana brawl last night.

Those playoff dates for the Star-Oiler series will be set in a dinner-meeting of league managers, commissioners and scribes at Donovan's cafe in Huntington Beach Friday.

Many of the Commercial National Bank players, out of their teens, take the field after a hard day's work. Joe's Grocers, comprised of high school kids on vacation, come on with plenty of dash and spirit. Perhaps that partially accounts for Joe's present two-game lead in the City league softball series.

Al Claves, Citrus Jaycee's hustling coach who may pilot the Owls to an Eastern conference football title this fall, is a brother-in-law of Vic Ruedy of Anaheim, president of the Orange County Nightball league. Al married Vic's sister.

Walt Collins, the County Nightball league's efficient secretary and demon statistician, has compiled a 28-page softball review which will be off the press soon. It contains standings, batting averages and other highlights of National, County and City league games.

Football training for the Dons is less than two weeks away.

Armstrong Floors Zurita in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Another Mexican featherweight was numbered today among the victims of Henry Armstrong, St. Louis negro and California-recognized champion.

Just a month after he outpointed Baby Arizmendi for the state title, Armstrong blitz-sawed his way to a four-round knockout over Juan Zurita of Mexico City here last night.

It was a hammer and tongs battle all the way, with Zurita taking the edge in the first stanza. His busy fists working like two perpetual motion machines, the Missourian took command in the second and staggered his opponent in the third. Driven to the ropes, Zurita fought a storm of rights and lefts to the head in the fourth.

Lopez to Wrestle Cantonwine at O. C. A. C. Monday

The world's undisputed heavyweight champion will defend his title against a challenger from the Orange County Athletic club Monday night.

Vincent Lopez, claimant to the title, and California's recognized world champion, meets Dave Levin at Wrigley field tonight for the undisputed championship, and if he wins he will risk his laurels in the Orange county ring against Howard (Hangman) Cantonwine in a three-fall, one-hour time limit match.

Definitely signed to fulfill his contract of more than a month ago, Lopez agreed yesterday to appear here, win, lose or draw tonight.

Originally Vincent was scheduled to meet Nick Lutze but Lutze, winning decisively Monday, because Cantonwine twice beat Lutze, winning decisively Monday. Promoter Sampson signed the Iowa caveman as the Mexican's foe.

Tickets for the match will be placed on sale throughout the county Friday morning, Sampson said today, and will be available at the arena tomorrow night. Telephone reservations will be acceptable immediately, Sampson announced.

There will be no increase in prices. Three bouts will support the Lopez-Cantonwine match.

Jimmy Coates is in the box, and all's well with the Stars.

Shaking off a slight cold, Santa Ana's baffling righthander, paced George Lackaye's second-half champions to a rather easy 4-1 victory here last night. Anaheim was the victim, and the game closed National Nightball league relations between the Stars and Valencia for 1936.

Santa Ana started off in business-like fashion, cracking down on Clair (String) McDonnell to chase Anaheim's six-foot-seven toter to cover in the second. Wilbur Stinchfield, the heavyset righthander who almost winds himself into a knot with every pitch, hurled five-hit, shutout ball in a relief role.

Coates was deprived of a shutout on one of Leftfielder Tom Denney's infrequent errors in the first of the fourth. With one away, Dave Webb bounced a high one to the pitcher's box. Mal Higgins, giant first-baseman, drove a blistering single into the left garden and Webb, reaching second in double-quick time, came on around when Outfielder Denney put on an uncharacteristic fumbling act.

The proceedings became warm for Anaheim's McDonnell in the first when he issued free tickets to first base to Al Reboin and Ray Smith after Denney had fanned. George Preble singled to center to fill the bases. Reboin scored on Tommy Young's lazy grounder to the mound, and Smith raced home on Nan Coot's bouncer to second.

Shortstop "Doc" Smith was the hero of the second-inning assault with a tremendous triple into centerfield, scoring Catcher Bomo Koral and Denney, who had singled. Acting-manager "Eeny" Wilcox waved Stinchfield to the mound, and Wilbur retired the side when Preble popped up.

The Stars loaded the bases on Stinchfield in the fourth with Denney's walk and singles by Reboin and Smith, but no damage was done. Coates led off the eighth with a triple into deep right-center, but the Stars went out 1-2-3 after that.

Coates fanned 10 to Stinchfield's 3 and McDonnell's 2. Westminster comes here Friday night.

Striking Photos of Joe Louis' Knockout Win Over Jack Sharkey

DUGAN SHUTS OUT ORANGE; H. B. WINS

Every now and then Jack Dugan, the ex-Santa Ana Junior collegian, comes up with a masterful pitching performance. He was in rare form—and had to be for Ben Gelker's Olive Mohawks last night to shut out Orange.

Dugan struck out nine rivals and had them Jack Dugan all under control except for one. The raven-haired right-fielder who hit three for four.

The defeat sank Liston Hill's Orange youngsters to third place behind Huntington Beach's struggling 1935 champions, who salvaged eight hits at Westminster to apply an 8-5 trimming to Twirler Elwynn (Puzzly) Errington and Francis Penhall's Aviators.

Manager Joe Rodgers, who was called north several days ago because of the death of his wife's brother, returned to the Oilers and pounded out two hits. He was aboard when First-Baseman Bob Smith, a southpaw, wooded a home run in the fourth. Huntington Beach stirred up a four-run rally in the third, but Westminster retaliated with three in the same frame.

Owens Sails Home to Consider Pro Offers

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

LONDON.—Out in front as usual, Jesse Owens is departing tonight with his coach, Larry Snyder, for a speedy trip home, calculated to determine definitely his prospective professional course without delay.

Before making a quick dash for the boat train to Southampton, where they are boarding the Queen Mary, both Snyder and Owens insisted today they had not made any decisions regarding numerous offers Owens has received.

The $100,000 by which Jesse can capitalize his fame aggregate well over $100,000 but as Snyder expressed it, "we aren't counting our financial chickens before they are hatched."

"Eligible at College"
"We don't know what a lot of this is all about before we get back," the coach added. "For all we know some of the folks anxious to sign Jesse up for serious money may want him to jump through a lighted hoop or race kangaroos at county fairs."

Whether or not Jesse has run his last amateur race, Snyder still is unconvinced that the suspension of

CARDS COUNT ON JOHNSON FOR HELP

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frankie Frisch, that old magician of the diamond, seems to have pulled a mound brigade out of the hat to bolster the Gas-House Gang's overworked pitching staff, heretofore made up almost completely of J. (Dizzy) Dean.

First he came up with Rookie Jim Winford, who threatens to be the best of the season's freshman pitchers. Now St. John's, the ex-Cincinnati Red and more recently of the International league's Toronto Leafs, looks like the goods.

As a result, those fast-traveling New York Giants are going to have a tough time closing up the 1½-game gap between themselves and the Cards.

In yesterday's program, the Gas House Gang, with St. John on the firing line, topped the Reds, 4-1, and the Giants handed their perennial jinx, the daffiness boys from Brooklyn, a double facing, 5-3 and 11-5.

Mel Ott's 26th homer helped Freddy Fitzsimmons take the opener for the Giants in New York, and Al Smith's six-hit, seven-inning relief provided the nightcap win.

Family Row Brewing

Owens' suspension on top of other discordant Olympic notes did not develop much warmth of feeling between the A. A. U. old guard and the collegiate leaders, who joined forces for the period of the games.

The whole situation is the ripest for one of the grandest family rows known in American athletics since the famous split in American Olympic Association ranks 10 years ago. It's a coincidence that the world's fastest human of that time, Charley Paddock, was among the figures in the events preceding the last big family row.

Levin-Lopez Title Clash Attracts 25,000 Tonight

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Two claimants to the heavyweight wrestling championship of California and assorted states, Vincent Lopez and Dave Levin, grapple tonight in an open air show at Wrigley field which Promoter Lou Daro expects to draw 25,000 customers.

Levin, Brooklyn's ex-butcher boy, traces his title back to the night he felled Al Bab, who beat Dick Shikat, who won from Danno O'Mahony, who beat Jim Londo, who said he inherited the championship by direct descent from the mighty Gutch.

Lopez, born in Mexico City and educated at the University of Idaho, won recognition in this state in an international tournament here last year.

Promoter Daro assigned Verne McCullough of Salt Lake City to referee the match and announced there would be no draw.

Eleven other struggles fill out the program.

Wetherell Gains Quarter-finals At St. Louis

Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana and the University of Southern California entered the quarter-finals of the National Public Parks tennis championships in St. Louis today as the result of his hard-earned 6-1, 12-10, 9-7 victory over Harry Wald of Pittsburgh yesterday.

SEATTLE GAINS ON PORTLAND

(By the Associated Press)

Los Angeles scored a double knockout over Portland's league-leading Beavers last night to narrow the Coast league race and definitely insert the Scarabs right in the thick of a battle for one of the first division playoff berths.

As a result of the week's series, the Beavers' record stands .500 or better in the standings.

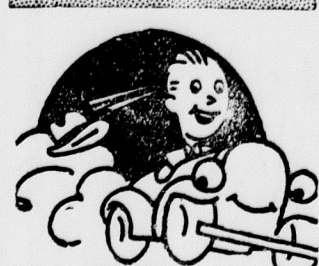

It took 11 innings for the Angels to win the first one, 5-4, but they took the seven-inning contest, 10-1. Seattle remained one game behind the Beavers by running into Samuel Gibson on a good night and losing to the San Francisco Seals 4-1.

Oakland went one up on the Missions in their fourth-place battle by winning an 11-inning tussle, 2-1, and were only three games removed from first.

Portland outlived the Angels in the first game, but Ray Thomas left 16 Beavers stranded on the bags. In the second Jack Salvason won with ease.

Rambling County Editor
By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

HERE I was, just worrying about what not to write for today, when comes, thank goodness, a letter from Gerrie Griffith. Addressed to "Mr. Roch Bradshaw or Mr. Brick Gaines." Roch is away, and I saw it first, anyway.

This epistle concerns Frank Bemus of Laguna Beach, who collects shells. Here's the way it goes:

Castles, church steeples, horsemen, sunsets, valleys, trees—that is what Frank Bemus found, carved in an abalone shell.

Mr. Bemus, 80-year-old retired carpenter at Laguna Beach, holds this 4-inch shell as the prize of his collection. The shell, of ordinary appearance on its outer surface, is illuminated with colored reflections and gold carvings on its inner side. These designs, seemingly done by a master artisan, were made by nature, for the shell was found six years ago just as it appears today.

Under a magnifying glass the shell becomes alive, for the person who looks at it finds new objects, and the longer he looks the more he sees.

Some see a flying lady, Christmas trees, rowboats, nuns entering a church, bathers lying on the beach, a face in a cloud—all in three inches of glistening mother-of-pearl.

For 12 years Mr. Bemus has collected and mounted more than 1800 specimens of shell varieties. He has gathered complete sets of abalone, from pin-head size to eight inches in diameter. Among the rarer ones he has a completed cycle of the "Red Pheasant," some of which can be seen only when magnified.

Interesting, what? And thanks to Gerrie.

Incidentally, if either Mr. Bemus or Gerrie are interested, I might offer a recipe for fried or baked abalone.

Then come amused chortlings from Correspondent Genevieve Fording at Garden Grove, who apparently reads newspapers from cover to cover.

Because she giggles over a want ad that goes something like this: "Wanted to rent: A three-bedroom house, with arrangements for some chickens and cow, in or near Garden Grove."

That suggests all sorts of possibilities, although I can't imagine Prudence and Phillip, the two editorial ducks, foraging for their daily provender under the bed or perhaps behind the piano.

Over in Anaheim, Capt. Marcus Andrade, popular policeman, and Mrs. Andrade are planning to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary Aug. 25.

Both were born in California, and neither have ever left the state, which is somewhat of a record, in addition to staying wed for 30 many years.

One of my first recollections of Anaheim is a picture of Cap riding a huge, white horse down the street. He was a familiar figure for many years as Anaheim's mounted policeman. I'm sorry they decided to do away with such a colorful part of the police department.

Cap and Mrs. Andrade will be surrounded by children and grandchildren next Tuesday, and they won't need any more congratulations, but we'll throw one in, anyway!

Amazement expressed at the wonderful turnout for the joint meeting of the Coast Association and Associated Chambers at Laguna last night. Virtually every community and agricultural section in the county represented. And almost every representative with his sleeves rolled up, preparing to do battle in a big way. For instance, there was the battling contingent from Placentia. H. H. Hale, the most experienced fighter, who is always offering olive branches; Bill Wallop, who knows plenty about water; Johnny Tuffree, who does, too; Ralph McFadden, Steve Strathman, Frank Rospaw—that's a fair representation, isn't it?

Also O. T. Stephens, from La Habra; Clyde Simmons, the farmer's friend, formerly from Yorba Linda; George Kellogg, still from Yorba Linda; Judge D. J. Dodge, Costa Mesa; Floyd McCracken, Anaheim; editor, Bill Gallienne; Ray Overacker, Tom Talbert and Willis Warner, a bunch of battling Huntington Beachers; and Dan Mulholland, Dr. C. G. Huston, George Reid, Anaheim secretary, Ted and Tommy Kuchel, Anaheimers; Carl Hankley, San Juan Capistrano; Dave Prenter, Dana Point—see? Everyone, almost, was there.

I agree perfectly with Andy Hall, Laguna Beach loan association manager, on the proper manner in which chicken should be fried. Andy and I proceeded to smear ourselves and the etiquette rules with very delicious fried chicken last night, at the expense of our clothing and local reputations. But it was worth it!

VISIT IN STANTON

STANTON.—Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Rutledge, Garden Grove, were guests Sunday of Mrs. Sarah Jane Rutledge.

COAST ASSOCIATION APPROVES SLANT DRILLING MEASURE

SUPPORT FOR INITIATIVE IS URGED

Income for State, Parks
For Beaches Named
As Reasons

LAGUNA BEACH.—Approval of an initiative amendment which would prohibit tideland drilling for oil but would allow slant drilling from adjacent properties, was approved by the Orange County Coast Association at a joint meeting with the associated chambers of commerce here last night.

The action followed presentation of a report by the association's oil committee, headed by Leslie F. Kimmel, in which a resolution favoring the legislation was presented and recommended by committee members.

More Parks Seen

Possibility of obtaining further state parks along the county's beaches was one of the main reasons for the action, it was pointed out, as the slant drilling legislation would call for collection by the state of a large royalty on all oil produced from the tideland pool, with the state park commission receiving one-half of the state's revenue.

The park commission would use its one-half to obtain new state parks and for development of present projects, committee members said.

Reasons Told

The slant drilling law affords a reasonable and desirable method of preserving and protecting the beaches, will prevent pollution, eliminate interference with recreational areas and will return a substantial revenue to the state that it otherwise might not obtain, the resolution, as adopted, said.

Members of the coast group were unanimous in their endorsement of the resolution, as offered by Kimmel. Last night's resolution followed similar action at the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce, in which the legislation was endorsed. The Huntington Beach city council also has approved the measure.

Chairman Kimmel pointed out that it should be distinctly remembered that last night's action was by the coast association alone, and had nothing to do with the chamber of commerce group.

DRIVE FOR MEASURE STARTED AT H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—First steps in a campaign to secure a favorable vote on a proposed slant drilling bill for the development of state tideland oil pools were taken here yesterday when Secretary W. H. Gallienne of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce appeared before the Los Angeles Municipal League in behalf of the measure.

Directors of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring the initiative amendment at a special meeting Monday night. Previously the Huntington Beach city council had adopted a resolution favoring the measure. City officials are negotiating to secure a portion of the royalties paid for oil taken from the tideland pool fronting this city.

Chamber of Commerce officials will take an active part in the state-wide campaign to secure a general favorable vote on the measure in November, it was understood.

30 EVENTS ON SWIM SLATE

NEWPORT BEACH.—More than 30 events will be opened to junior aquatic stars of Orange county and Southern California here Aug. 29 when the annual Junior Aquatic meet is staged, under the auspices of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. The contests will be held in the channel north of Balboa Island.

A two and one-half mile paddle board race around Balboa Island will be one of the features of the affair. Many other swimming and diving events will be scheduled, with many of them limited to Orange county swimmers, and others to Newport Harbor district swimmers.

Contestants must be between the ages of 3 and 17 years of age, according to those in charge. The meet will open at 11 a. m. Kenneth G. Baum is general chairman of the affair, with Dick Blocher, Joe Lengsfeld, Andy Ong, George Russell, Chuck Brown, Ray Loomis, Conrad Shook and Waldo Ong assisting.

Tri-City Club Meets at Midway

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Marshall entertained members of the Tri-City Bridge club at their home on South Jackson street recently.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Barker Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crooks, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Whitacre and Mr. and Mrs. C. Ceule, Whittier.

SHOOT DEER

STANTON.—Gerald Walker has returned from a hunting trip in the Santa Marguerita district, bringing back a four point buck.

Film Actor Weds Sportswoman

Announcement by Randolph Scott (left), film actor, that he had married Mrs. Marion DuPont Somerville (right), nationally known horsewoman and owner of the old home of President James Madison, on March 23 at Charlotte, N. C., proved a big surprise to their fellow citizens of Orange county, Va. (Associated Press Photos)

URGE ELECTION PENSION GROUP OF TUFFREE HEARS JUDGE

PLACENTIA.—With regular business thrust aside, members of the Placentia chamber of commerce heard of plans for S. James Tuffree's campaign for election as supervisor of the third district at the regular meeting here yesterday.

With Frank Rospaw acting as program chairman, Dr. D. J. Brigham, Mrs. Nellie M. Cline, W. Harold Lang, Ralph McFadden and Louis Jacobsen urged support of the Placentia candidate. Tuffree also spoke briefly.

Visitors at the meeting were Corb Sarchet, publisher of the Brea Progress and Albert Laing, chamber of commerce president.

REBEKAHS PLAN C. E. GROUP HAS ANNIVERSARY PARK MEETING

ORANGE.—One new member, Miss June Ragsdale, was initiated into the Ruby Rebekah lodge at a meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall Monday night. Mrs. Flora Delle Cox, noble grand, presided. Mrs. Ella Hight was installed as right support of the noble grand by Miss Nora Edwards, deputy president, and Mrs. Ola Harris, deputy marshal.

It was announced that the next meeting will feature the 85th anniversary of the Rebekah degree, and a special program will be presented. A picnic will be held Aug. 31 at Irvine park, to which all Rebekah lodges in the district have been invited.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Edith Kneese and Mr. and Mrs. Puri Shell.

Lompoc Pair in Grove Visit

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Clara Westrope and son, Arley, of Lompoc, spent Sunday and Monday at the home of her brother, J. O. Arley and family, the group being joined for dinner Sunday evening by the hosts' daughters and families, Mrs. and Mrs. J. L. Abbott and children of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reafsnider. Mrs. Abbott and children remained for a week's visit with her parents.

Mission Group Slates Meeting

WINTERSBURG.—Mrs. W. F. Slater will entertain members of the Woman's Missionary society at her summer cottage at Balboa on Friday. A covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Anglers Gleeful As Albacore Appear at Newport

NEWPORT BEACH.—Skipjack and albacore appeared off Newport Beach yesterday in great schools, the skipjack for the first time this season and the albacore continuing a spotted run that has had anglers guessing all season.

One boat returned with better than 500 pounds of skipjack averaging about six pounds each. Another boat came in with six albacore weighing around 25 pounds each. The albacore were caught close to shore, it was reported, with the skipjack found farther out in the center of the Catalina channel.

RETURN FROM VACATION

GARDEN GROVE.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Power and three children returned Sunday from a two weeks vacation trip to Lake country.

VISIT IN ORANGE

ORANGE.—Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Shannon and family, Los Angeles, spent Sunday with Mr. Shannon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Shannon, East Maple avenue.

RETURN FROM YOSEMITE

WESTMINSTER.—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Eastwood, Miss Nellie French, Virginia Ferguson and Mary Eastwood returned Sunday from a two weeks vacation at Yosemite.

LAGUNA WILL GET COUNTY TAX AID

County supervisors yesterday virtually promised Laguna Beach councilmen aid in clearing away pyramiding bond assessments on the Broadway improvement district in that city, it was learned after the councilmen and supervisors conferred in private.

Chairman John C. Mitchell of the board of supervisors said an answer will be given Thursday morning at a meeting of the board called to hold a public hearing on the county budget.

To Cancel Back Taxes

Included in plans are cancellation of city and county delinquent taxes, and a county contribution of about $16,000.

Mitchell said some county aid to the district would be in order, as the district at its own expense built flood control ditches which the county had been planning to install shortly before the district was incorporated as a part of the city of Laguna Beach.

Terms Not Announced

E. K. Wood of Riverside, a property owner in the district, has led other property owners in negotiations with holders of bonds against the district for a reduction in obligations. The arrangements are reported nearing completion, but terms have not been announced.

Troubles of the district arose under an investigation of gas rates charged here by the Southern Counties Gas company, to be followed, if possible, by a public hearing in the premises, has been submitted by the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce, inquiries at that office disclosed today.

GROVE MISSION GROUP ELECTS

GARDEN GROVE.—Election of officers and a mite box opening for the Foreign Missionary society for the first Methodist church were features of an all-day conference meeting held jointly with the Home society at the A. A. Schnitzer home on North Euclid avenue recently.

Mrs. Fred Andres was elected recording secretary, the other officers re-elected being Miss Mettie Chaffee, president; Mrs. S. R. Fitz, treasurer and Mrs. H. A. Lake, corresponding secretary. Collections were taken for a purse of money to be sent as a birthday gift to Miss Agnes Dunn, missionary nurse in India.

Mrs. A. A. Schnitzer, mite box chairman, conducted the opening. A program included reading, Mrs. C. N. Franks, dialogue, Mrs. J. M. Chilson and Mrs. Clara Holliday, an article on "Estonian Mite Boxes," Mrs. J. O. Arley and a demonstration by Mrs. E. P. Williams and Mrs. E. R. Schneider.

NAME ORANGE AID HEADS

ORANGE.—Circle No. 1 of the Methodist Aid society held a steak bake Tuesday noon in the garden of the J. W. Bomboy home, with a business meeting following.

Officers were re-elected for another year, including Mrs. John Moore, president; Mrs. W. Rogers, vice president, and Mrs. J. B. Kilgore, secretary treasurer. Members served after the business was concluded.

Guests were Mrs. Jennie R. Hotchkiss, J. A. Green, George Moody and J. W. Bomboy. Members present were Mrs. Flora Donaid, Mrs. J. A. Green, Mrs. George Moody, Mrs. Mary Richardson, Mrs. Gertrude S. Carson, Miss Emma J. Corson, Mrs. Helen Alis, Mrs. L. W. Hemphill, Mrs. H. Gallon and Mrs. Nettie Rozell.

Midway Family Back From Trip

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor and John and Dean Pryor, returned Sunday morning from their camp at Lake Sabrina, where they have been staying for several weeks completing a new cabin.

Dean Pryor, who graduated from California Agricultural college last spring, will leave about the middle of September for the University of Wisconsin at Madison. John Pryor returned to Davis Tuesday to complete his final year.

Stanton Pair Visit in Hemet

STANTON.—Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Davis, Gardena, went to Hemet Sunday where they were entertained at the home of Miss Anna Rheingans.

VISIT AT GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Rossetto have been entertaining the latter's niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Matlock of Philadelphia, Pa., the past two weeks.

ON CAMPING TRIP

GARDEN GROVE.—W. W. Perkins, Jr., and son, Leon, and N. F. Moore and son, Ainsworth, enjoyed a camping trip to Lake Arrowhead over the week-end.

500 SETS OF TWINS ASKED TO URGE SPEED CURB FOR LAGUNA H. B. CELEBRATION

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Invitations to more than 500 sets of twins will be sent out here by the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce within the next few days. Twins throughout the western part of the United States are to be invited to participate in a gigantic twin convention to be staged in this city Sept. 6. The convention will be a special feature of a three-day Black Gold days celebration planned by civic leaders.

The celebration will be the second annual affair of its kind. It was launched last year to honor and commemorate the oil industry of the city. A huge oil exposition was planned at that time. Oil companies and subsidiary firms of the industry will be asked to cooperate with the chamber of commerce and other groups this year in staging the big three-day fete.

Another feature of the affair will be the national convention of the American Motorcycle association. Motorcycle riders from all parts of the nation will gather for the three days, Sept. 5, 6 and 7. More than 5000 motorcycle riders are expected.

The twin convention is one of the outstanding affairs on the Pacific coast. For several years the fete has been held at Long Beach. This year local chamber of commerce officials induced managers of the convention to bring it to this city. Mrs. Ruth Curry of Camp Baldy and Judge Hervey of Los Angeles will assist with the details of the twin meeting.

Prizes will be offered for the best dressed twins, and for many other competitive contests. Old and young twins will receive special mention and many other features will be included, according to W. H. Gallienne, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who is in charge of the local end of affairs.

LAGUNANS SEEK POSTPONE SAN JUAN DANCE

LAGUNA BEACH.—A request the state railroad commission conducted an investigation of gas rates charged here by the Southern Counties Gas company, to be followed, if possible, by a public hearing in the premises, has been submitted by the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce, inquiries at that office disclosed today.

The action of the chamber, it was explained by Capt. George A. Portus, president and manager of the organization, followed a conference with directors who voiced their approval of the procedure.

The communication, signed by Capt. Portus, as president, goes on to say that there seems to be considerable dissatisfaction over the present gas rate.

Community Card Party Planned

STANTON.—Mrs. Will Thompson and Mrs. C. E. Pollock will be hostesses at a community card party slated for Friday evening at the Commissary hall.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Postponement of the Club Hispano California's scheduled Saturday night dance at Capistrano Hot Springs was announced today by the club secretary, Alfonso Yorba. The regular business meeting will be held as usual Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the clubrooms here. At that time a new date for the dance, as well as plans for a barbecue, fandango and election will be discussed. Dancing will follow the meeting.

Grove Topic on Trip to North

GARDEN GROVE.—Rodney Arley and Donald Dungan, accompanied by the latter's sister, Miss Frances Dungan, left yesterday for Berkeley where the young men will enroll at the university as members of the junior class, both having graduated from Fullerton Junior college in June. Miss Dungan will spend the remainder of the week there, returning by train on Sunday.

LAGUNA BEACH.—Speeders, reckless drivers, and road hogs, who endanger life and property and turn Coast boulevard into a race track, held the spotlight at yesterday's regular luncheon meeting of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce at the Brass Rail cafe.

Among various measures suggested to reduce speeding on the coast highway between the city limits, particularly at principal pedestrian crossings, was installation of traffic signals at Aster, Legion, Cress, and other points along the highway. Strict enforcement of traffic laws against speeders and reckless drivers was another recommendation in the line of eliminating speeding through the city.

A third alternative, which seemed to receive general approval of the chamber members present, was a plan of diverting through traffic away from the center to the outskirts of the community. This could be accomplished by building a new traffic artery traversing the slope of the hills, it was explained. Joe Jaharous, prominent business man, property owner and civic leader, called attention to traffic conditions and urged that steps be taken to remedy the same.

Star Group Plans 'Courtesy Night'

GARDEN GROVE.—"Courtesy Night" will be observed by the Garden Grove chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Aug. 27. In addition, Worthy Matron Alice T. Smith has announced that an important matter of business will come up for discussion.

The Monday Afternoon Star club meeting scheduled for this month has been cancelled according to an announcement by Publicity Chairman Mrs. Mabel Williams, the next meeting to be held Sept. 28 at her home on West Chapman avenue.

FETED IN WINTERSBURG.—WINTERSBURG.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Tulare, and Louis Thompson, Los Angeles, were week-end guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson.

MURDER TONIGHT BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

Chapter 35

ADVICE TO DALE

Hylton nodded and rose to his feet.

"Don't forget you're still under suspicion; if your story doesn't check up you're in for trouble. Oh, and by the way," he turned at the door to add his last words, "I suppose it has never entered your head to let a decent girl get hold of you and try to make something worth while out of you, has it?"

"What d'you mean?" asked Dale.

"If any girl had done for me what Miss Featherstone did for you today, Shipley, I'd go down on my knees to thank her; but you're so damned egotistical you're blind." Hylton slammed the door behind him and left a surprised and crestfallen young man in the drawing room.

Nancy was waiting in the hall. "My Hylton," she said quickly, as he came towards her, "I want to apologize for what I said. Please don't think I'm running away from it, I'm only speaking personally now."

"Miss Featherstone," he said gently, "I've been cursed with a most curious memory. Do you know, I am beginning to think that I can forget all about what happened today—on one condition."

"On one condition?"

"Yes. That you go, now, into that room, and tell Dale Shipley what you did and why you did it." Nancy Featherstone stared at him; then she turned from white to brick red. At length she managed to blurt out:

"I think you are a frightfully good sort."

Kingsley Hylton smiled and went towards the front door. "Good evening, Inspector."

Even in his own mentally agitated state, it was on the tip of Hylton's tongue to cry out, "Good Lord, what the matter with your wife?"

Alice White was standing in a corner of the room, poker-straight against the wall and looking as white as death.

"I went to the Hoops as you told me," Sergeant White said. "Yes, I say, I'm sorry I wasn't there as a matter of fact I've had rather an extraordinary day."

nodded, and when the two men moved across the room she followed them.

White led the way, and the Inspector was half through the doorway following him when something plucked at his arm.

He turned to find Alice White standing there. She said nothing, but there was a look about her, something wild and frightened and yet horribly triumphant in her eyes. He was just about to ask the woman what she wanted when she shook her head. She said nothing, but simply moved her eyes in the direction of the man who had just left the room, and back again to the Inspector nodding twice quickly. Then she dropped her detaining fingers from his arm and noiselessly moved into the center of the kitchen.

Hylton hesitated for a moment and then followed the sergeant.

"I suppose you hung 'round the Hoops most of the day," he said after he had lit a cigar and made himself comfortable.

"A good part of it. I naturally didn't want to miss you."

"My fault entirely—as a matter of fact I had quite a peculiar day. I was up at Fielden Cottage early this morning and the first things I discovered there was that young Shipley had done a bolt."

James White seemed interested for the first time that evening. "Mr. Shipley bolted?" he asked. "Whatever for?"

"Curiously enough, Sergeant, that's the very question I asked myself. Do you know anything of Miss Frances Lawson?"

"The Lodge-keeper's daughter. From what I can hear of her she's like the rest of women, take up with any man she can get hold of."

Hylton gave a full account of Dale Shipley's story, to which White paid so little attention that the Inspector was moved to break off and enquire rather sharply. "You listening, Sergeant?"

"Yes, I'm listening."

"And you think it likely or not?"

replacing the instrument after a moment. "They want me to go over to Morechester—started some hare-brained theory, I suppose, but I shall have to go; they're sending a car to the Hoops."

Sergeant White shut the door after the departing Hylton, and went slowly into the kitchen.

He found it as he expected to find it—empty.

Hylton walks in the dark, tomorrow—and finds a man hanging.

STEELE FINLEY

Candidate for SUPERVISOR

A resident of Orange County fifty-seven years.

Never held public office on public pay.

Contractor of public works since 1915. Business grew until annual roll reached $165,000 per annum, 80% of which was paid to employees of Santa Ana. Contracts covered Orange, San Diego, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Luis Obispo and Monterey Counties.

Have favored all reasonable public improvements and opposed reckless and wanton waste or attempted waste of public funds, such as bonding the county for $15,000,000 for Flood Control, destruction of public buildings and acquisition of unnecessary real estate.

The unemployed and unfortunate must be treated with reason, consideration and sympathy by our public officials. Salaries in the lower brackets must be increased to provide a decent livelihood. Taxes must come down if we are to progress.

The Townsend PLAN offers the most feasible plan yet submitted for relieving present financial conditions. A Supervisor's salary is $2500 per annum and justifies full time service.

CAMPAIGN ON STRAY DOGS PLANNED

County Health Officer Seeks Aid of Cities To Solve Problem

Armed with authority from the board of supervisors, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, today was attempting to get Orange county cities to do something about their own stray dog problems.

He told the board of supervisors yesterday that with a few exceptions the cities collect dog license fees, but expect the county health department and county dog catcher to handle every dog bite case. This summer, he said, has brought the worst stray dog and rabies situation in years. Two or three persons are bitten by dogs every day.

"Every dog is entitled to one bite" may have been a true saying at one time, but it is no longer, he told the board. The health department is expected to keep the dog under observation to determine whether it has rabies.

What Dr. Sutherland wants the cities to do is contract with Harold D. Pickering, Santa Ana city poundmaster and part-time county poundmaster, or someone else, to handle the dog problems for a share of the dog license fees. Pickering runs the pound here and collects the license fees for a three-fourths share. The other quarter goes into incidental expenses and dog food.

NEWPORT PLANS NEW CITY HALL

Tentative plans of the Newport Beach city council to build a city hall on Central avenue near the entrance to Lido Isle were revealed yesterday by Roland Thompson, city attorney, when he appeared before the board of supervisors.

The prospective site is a tract of four and one-half acres, included with a group of lots on which the board cancelled back county taxes a week ago. Supervisor W. C. Jarome called Thompson in to explain the tract.

Against the property is $10,000 in assessments, $2000 in bonds, $2000 in city taxes, and $1500 in county taxes, Thompson said. The property, he asserted, is worth only about $1000 per acre. He said the action is part of the city's program to cancel taxes on delinquent property, sell it for the amount of the street assessments, and get it back on the tax rolls.

Of all the property Newport has acquired or expects to acquire, only this tract offers a proper city hall site, Thompson said.

Republicans Offer Third Exhibit; Democrats Score Landon on Civil Service

The Journal conducts this forum so that its readers may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the presidential campaign. Horace C. Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, and E. Z. McKinney are in charge of that party's contributions. Howard Irwin, head of the Republican county central committee, and Dr. W. E. Dixon are contributing their party's articles.—Editor's note.

By THE REPUBLICANS
Are you going to vote with the Communists, or are you going to vote for your beloved country?

If Governor Landon is the chief enemy of the Communist party, why wouldn't he be a good candidate for all true red-blooded Americans?

The Exhibit
Here is Exhibit "C":
NEW YORK, June 24.—Definitely placing itself in the presidential fight between the two major parties, the Communist party today started a "stop Landon at all cost" movement and sharply attacked President Roosevelt in an effort to drive him progressively to the left.

While the 725 delegates to the ninth national convention cheered their approval, Earl Browder, secretary and keynoter of the party, called for the momentary forsaking of the full Socialist program in the interest of practical politics.

Landon Chief Enemy
"The Communist party," Browder said, "differentiates between Landon—our chief enemy—and Roosevelt."

"We must fight to take votes from Landon even though they go to Roosevelt."

"Roosevelt fights reaction only to the degree he needs to hold the leftist forces; to support him invites his further retreat from progressivism."

War on Fascism
The convention was opened by William Z. Foster, national chairman and thrice presidential candidate, calling for an alignment of all the progressive forces of the country to fight Fascism and the dangers of war.

The representatives of the party's 30,000 members will formally adopt a platform and nominate their national ticket in a mass meeting Sunday afternoon at Madison Square Garden.

By THE DEMOCRATS
Gov. Alf M. Landon's Old Guard sponsors who drafted the Republican platform at Cleveland were admittedly hard pressed for issues.

They hit upon civil service seemingly without consulting the candidate's Kansas friends who were out in the corridor singing "Sussanna." The plank reads:

"We pledge ourselves to the merit system. It should be restored, improved and extended."

Appeal to Him
The idea appealed to the governor. In his telegram clarifying the plank on working conditions for women—about which nothing has been done in Kansas during either of his administrations—and declaring for the promptest possible return to the gold standard, he said, as to civil service:

"In carrying out this pledge I believe that there should be included within the merit system every position in the administration service below the rank of assistant secretaries of major departments and agencies, and that this inclusion should cover the entire postoffice department."

The nominee was widely praised in the press for his bold stand. Some of the independent and Democratic newspapers commented on the Republican nominee's apparent disapproval of the persistent opposition by the Republicans in congress to a bill which proposed to include all postmasters in civil service. All commentators took it for granted that civil service in Kansas must have been one of Governor Landon's proudest accomplishments.

Then came the dawn. Scores of leading papers apologized for their praise. It was discovered that Kansas had no civil service system in effect at all, although according to state officials a law providing for one had been on the Kansas statute books since before the war. It was discovered that all posts had been filled under Governor Landon and his appointees purely on a patronage basis.

Child Actress To Stay With Grandmother
HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—The grandmother who reared Edith Fellows from babyhood retained guardianship of the 13-year-old film actress by court order today.

Edith's $2700 bank account and $200 a week salary, earned as the "problem child" in numerous screen dramas, were consigned to the care of a trust company.

Thus ended the suit brought by the girl's mother, Mrs. Harriet Fellows, to gain the custody which she relinquished to Mrs. Elizabeth Fellows, paternal grandmother, 11 years ago.

PLAN HEARING ON BUDGET TOMORROW

Board of Supervisors Is Scheduled to Set 62-Cent Rate

Orange county's operative budget of $2,312,460, calling for an estimated tax rate of 62 cents per $100 assessed valuation, probably will be adopted tomorrow at a public hearing called by the board of supervisors. The hearing will open at 10 a. m.

Since the Orange County Farm Bureau has given approval to the proposed budget, and apparently there is no other organized objection, few if any changes are anticipated.

Supervisor N. E. West has announced, however, that he will move to cut the welfare budget about $37,000 to lower the tax rate another two cents to an all-time low of 60 cents.

STRIKE PROTEST ARRIVES LATE

Protesting alleged "lawless brutality of public officials" in connection with the recent citrus strike and demanding removal of Sheriff Logan Jackson, a resolution from the Workers Alliance of California arrived here yesterday—a month late.

The resolution, signed by E. M. O'Donnell as secretary of a convention held in Los Angeles July 18, was mailed from San Francisco Monday and reached the board of supervisors yesterday—exactly a month after its purported adoption by the labor organization.

"Civil government has broken down," it charged. "Police, sheriff's posse, state highway patrolmen, and gunmen have brutally beaten and arrested hundreds of workers and incarcerated them in jail pens." The resolution demanded that strike breakers be disarmed and workers allowed to bear arms "in self defense."

HOPE TO ENTER FOLSOM TODAY
LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Folsom prison doors clang shut today behind Charles H. Hope, sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the snake-bathbath slaying of Mary James.

James, sentenced to hang at San Quentin prison, has delayed carrying out of the penalty by opening a fight for a new trial. "I'm not going to dangle from the end of a rope," commented Hope with evident satisfaction as officers took him from the county jail to a barred railway coach last night.

He told the police he knew nothing of the slaying but identified a bundle of laundry held at the station as his property.

DEATH SUSPECT SURRENDERS

CHICAGO, (AP)—James Gray, 26, negro gambler, sought for questioning in connection with the hotel room slaying of Mrs. Mary Louise Trammel last Sunday, surrendered yesterday to the police.

Gray walked into police headquarters and said he had read in the newspapers that he was being sought.

He told the police he knew nothing of the slaying but identified a bundle of laundry held at the station as his property.

This Marriage Lasted Quick

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Ernest Spagnolia's petition for annulment of his five-day marriage quoted his bride as saying: "I will leave you at the end of the week and I'm starting now."

Whereupon, the petition added, the bride climbed into the upper berth in the drawing room of the train which was bringing them back from the Reno marriage.

"So you'll know what it will be like a week from now."

NEW FUNGUS PEST FOUND ON BEETS

Greenville Fields Are Affected; Steps to Control It Taken

Discovery of a new fungus pest which attacks sugar beets was reported today by D. W. Tubbs, Orange county agricultural commissioner. He said steps have been taken to control it.

A fungus disease, which causes beets to rot ground, it is known as Sclerotium Rolfsii. So far as discovered, the disease exists in Orange county only in a few fields near Greenville, Tubbs said, but is common in the Sacramento valley. Use of formaldehyde compounds apparently stamped out the pest in another field discovered several years ago, Tubbs said.

Control measures consist largely in preventing spread of the fungus. Dirt which falls from the beets when they are harvested must be hauled from the sugar plant back to the original field, and the beet pulp treated at high temperatures to kill the fungus spores.

JAPANESE PLAN TOKYO FLIGHT

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A 4-year-old second-hand airplane and two American born Japanese youths became partners today in making the dream of a transpacific flight to Tokyo come true.

Benny Chojin, 24, and John Takemoto, 25, both of Alameda, Calif., are the new owners of the air-express monoplane in which Laura Ingalls circled South America in 1933.

"We plan to make a one-stop flight from Seattle to Tokyo in 1937," they said. "We want to disprove the general belief that Japanese are poor aviators."

Battle of Texas 'Queens' Looms

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Geraldine Robertson, platinum blonde and 19, hung up her shooting irons today.

Irate over the claim of Janice Jarrett to be the Texas Centennial "queen," Geraldine was ready to declare war when she arrived in Hollywood a week after Miss Jarrett.

"I'm the queen of the Texas celebration," she said. "And I'm prepared to go gunnin' for anybody who tries to steal my honors."

THIS SAVES VOTERS WEAR AND TEAR
BLAKELY, Ga.—J. H. Williams and H. C. Fort, aspirants to the office of county commissioner, are conducting a passive campaign to save wear and tear on the voters. They signed this agreement:

"We have agreed between ourselves not to worry our friends by soliciting their votes. Each of us, however, will appreciate your support."

NO TROUBLE WITH THIS MAJORITY
PASADENA, Calif.—The entire population of West Foothill annex voted unanimously to become a part of Pasadena and all but one voter had an official job in the election.

Four votes were cast. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Millard circulated the petition, set up a polling place in their home and acted as judges. Mrs. Carl W. Koiner was inspector. Koiner voted early but regulations kept the poll open until 7 p. m.

HE OUGHT TO GO ON A DIET
SAN FRANCISCO—Mrs. Florence Hunter testified Charles Snyder, a "perfect stranger" imitating a cowboy, lassoed her not once but twice on a San Francisco street.

Snyder admitted his error and explained there had been a little party with "the gang." There were some drinks, he said, but "it was the corned beef and cabbage."

SOUP'S ON—AT LAST
CHICAGO—The last time Gustav Beran planned turtle soup for his tavern menu he was foiled by Myrtle, the turtle, who pulled in her neck just as he fired with a rifle. Shot in the foot, Beran went to a hospital.

Yesterday, back at his tavern in a wheel chair, Gustav pointed his feet west, but Myrtle led up from the southeast and fired.

Myrtle's remains—all 32 pounds—went into the soup kettle.

Fanny Bixby Spencer, Descendant of Pilgrims, was Civic Benefactor

(Men are remembered after their death for their unselfish service to their fellow men. Robert Gardner of Orange has written a series of articles about pioneers of this section, which The Journal is publishing in order to preserve the memory and deeds of outstanding characters. Today's sketch tells about Fanny Bixby Spencer.—Editor)

Fanny Bixby Spencer was a member of the noted Bixby family. Her father was Jotham Bixby, known as "The Father of Long Beach." She was a descendant of William Bradford, who came in the Mayflower to Plymouth Rock. She was born in Los Cerritos, Nov. 6, 1879.

She did social settlement work in Boston and worked in the nurses' settlement in San Francisco. She married W. Clark Spencer in 1918.

She was a most unusual woman. She donated freely to the causes that aided humanity.

"Life is of us all, and for up all, and each living soul has a message for some kindred soul," she said. "My theme is life as it appears to me, within my own being and in the world without. If I should chance to touch a responsive chord in any heart I shall feel that my message has been delivered."

She wrote a play called "The Jazz of Patriotism" and she published a book of poems called "Within and Without." Both these literary contributions have value.

She was a socialist and worked in the Political Equality league. She gave liberally to political, religious, and economic causes that she thought just. She was an outspoken pacifist and was emphatic when she said that no good ever could come out of war.

She was a benefactor to the Costa Mesa library, to which she contributed liberally. She donated about 2000 books, and in her will she gave money to erect a library on a lot she gave to Costa Mesa.

Besides this she gave a liberal contribution for salaries, maintenance, and other needs.

Hers was a life of service. Her views were far in advance of the day in which she lived, but she worked diligently for a better society and for a greater degree of equality.

Decision to Turn Down Proposal Is Made Following Poll

Prospects for a new building and library in Santa Ana for the Orange County Medical association went glimmering today, as only approximately half the association's members favored a plan for a PWA loan.

"There were about half who were ready to go with the PWA application," said Dr. J. M. Burlew, a member of the association's building committee, "but the other half just couldn't see their way clear to meeting their share of the expense and maintenance, so the project will have to be dropped."

The decision to cancel plans was taken after a county-wide poll of medical men by an association committee. The proposed building would have been constructed in Santa Ana, and would have made this city the headquarters for association meetings and study. A PWA loan would have provided funds for four-fifths of the expense, with the association raising the other fifth.

Members of the committee were Dr. Burlew, Dr. H. A. Johnson, Dr. Luther Maroon, Dr. C. C. Violett, and Dr. Harry Huffman.

"That building would have been a wonderful thing for Santa Ana," commented Dr. Burlew. "But I guess there isn't anything more to be done just now."

Four Escape From Devil's Island

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad. (AP)—Four convicted murderers who escaped from "Devil's Island"—the French penal colony off Guiana—were set adrift in the Caribbean sea today by the Trinidad government after a fortnight's refuge on this island.

The fugitives were given a new small boat and food to last three weeks before being towed out to sea 12 miles by a police launch. They waved goodbye to police and began rowing diligently toward Venezuela.

They left behind in the hospital three companions, who are suffering from the effects of starvation and sunburn. They will be similarly deported when they have recovered.

Miss Virginia Berry, Bride-Elect of Richard Ewert, Feted This Afternoon

Wedding To Be Last Of Month

Club Gives Courtesy For Members at May Home

Taking her place among the brides-elect is Miss Virginia Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noel A. Berry of 2315 Oakmont, who is approaching wedding with Richard A. (Dick) Ewert, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ewert of 802 South Ross street, formed the incentive this afternoon for a charming tea courtesy arranged by members of the little bridge club to which Miss Berry belongs.

The party had as its setting the home of Mrs. Fred May, on Lemon Heights, where friends of Miss Berry gathered between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, presenting the honored guest with lovely gifts for her new home and her trousseau.

Members of the club, who were hostesses at the party today, are Mrs. Victor Walker, Mrs. Basil Shifflet, Mrs. Mary Alice Majors, Mrs. Lyle Anderson, Mrs. Larry Cameron, Mrs. Ernest Gould and Miss Berry, and Mrs. Alvin Berry who is out of town.

The wedding of the couple, both popular in Santa Ana's younger circles, is to take place some time at the end of this month, although no definite date has been announced.

Miss Berry has been a resident of this city for 14 years, coming here from Kentucky, and is a graduate of Santa Ana High school. Mr. Ewert, who is associated with his father in the jewelry business here, has lived in Santa Ana for 10 years, and attended the local junior college.

They are active in local dancing and social clubs, including Tux 'n' Gown, 50-50 and Comus, and Mr. Ewert is a member of the 20-30 club.

Ross Family In Golden Wedding Santa Ana Ends Trip Abroad

Surrounded by relatives representing four branches of the pioneer family of Ross, and with several of those who were present at the wedding on Aug. 15, 1886, in attendance, Mr. and Mrs. Uriah J. Ross were honored at a reception last night in their home at 1429 North Baker in celebration of their golden wedding.

Many friends called during the day, bringing gifts of lovely golden blooms, which were arranged about the house in festive appearance, and the relatives and other friends gathered in the evening, when the pioneer pair received for several happy hours in their home on the family ranch.

Sister Attends
Among those present last night who also attended the nuptials of the couple in the old Doyle home near Santa Ana 50 years ago, was Mrs. Lizzie Foote of Laguna Beach, sister of Mr. Ross, who has a babe in arms when the couple came across the plains to California in a covered wagon.

A delightful surprise was a letter which came from a cousin in China, Mrs. Mary Williams, who represents a fifth branch of the Ross house, and who was born when that early wagon train stopped in Monterey. Because they had lost one child, the parents of Mrs. Williams took her back to their Eastern home by vessel, around the Horn, to raise the child who was settled part of the country, and her advent to the West to make her home came later than the other Ross branches.

Children Assist
Among those assisting in receiving and entertaining the guests last evening were Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ross, grandchild of the couple; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ross; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ross of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ross of Santa Ana, Ernest Ross of the home, children of the honored guests; Mrs. Jessie Wells of Orange, Mrs. Edna Dodge of Los Angeles, Mrs. Agnes Stiles of Los Angeles, a niece, from Santa Ana, and other cousins and grandchildren.

The Rosses were among the early settlers in this vicinity. Following the signing of the western part of the present site of Santa Ana, Mrs. Ross came West with her sister, Mrs. Kate Doyle, at whose home the wedding took place, and Mr. Ross, oldest child of Josiah and Sarah Ross, lived here since early childhood.

The house in which the Rosses live stands on a part of that property purchased from an early grant by Josiah Ross, on which the couple have lived through all the 50 years of their married life. The following signed the guest book during the evening:

From Santa Ana: Ernest Ross, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Ross and daughter, Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ross and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ross, Leonard Ross, Mr. and Mrs. George Ross, Miss Olive Ross, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ross, Fred McNeal, Miss Mildred McNeal, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Basher, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coleman and daughter, Betty Lou, Mrs. Ida King, Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Edwards and daughter, Dana, Mrs. Erma Swan and daughter, Lenice, Mr. B. Sweetzer, Miss Geneva Sweetzer, Mrs. Jennie Sweetzer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Branson, Miss Lowell Branson, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Selvidge, Alvin Selvidge, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas LeBar.

From Laguna—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foote.
From Los Angeles—Mrs. Myrtle Froelich, Mr. and Mrs. J. Winston Field, Marley Froelich, Miss Grace Roberts, Mrs. Miriam Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ross and sons, Robert and Melvin, Jr., Mrs. Agnes Noble, Mrs. Etta M. Dodge, Dr. Ruth Barton, George Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watt and Cleo Monical.

From Southgate—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dickinson.
From Glendale—Mr. and Mrs. David Ross, Jr.
From Altadena—Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Richards.

OHIO GUESTS HONORED IN FAREWELL
Almost 40 guests from a number of surrounding cities were present at a lovely informal tea given by Mrs. Christine Lambert, North Pine street, Orange, as a farewell honor to her sister, Miss Charlotte Eck, Miamisburg, Ohio, and her friend, Mrs. Anna Coleman, Dayton, Ohio, who have spent the summer in Southern California. The guests will leave Thursday for their homes in the east.

Tea tables, covered with cloths of Italian cut work, were set in the patio, and guests were entertained in the garden, at small tables under gay umbrellas. Refreshments were served in table appointments and refreshments. Mrs. John Harris, Jr., and Mrs. Stanley Mansur, poured.

ALTRUSA CLUB PLANS DINNER
With Miss Helen Gallagher as assistant hostess, Mrs. Charles E. Moore will entertain members of Altrusa club at dinner tomorrow evening in the garden of her home, 805 North Lowell street.

Dinner is to be served at 6:30 o'clock. A short business session is to be held later in the evening.

Mary Stoddard 'Many Men Would Not Swap Wives for a Carload of Younger Women'—Reader

By MARY STODDARD
The triangle intrudes itself again, with two interesting opinions that deviate from the customary letters on this subject.

Meet the wife of the man who pretends to want a divorce, one correspondent advises the "other woman." She'll find that he is only pretending, and wouldn't give up his wife for a dozen others, she predicts.

Dear Miss Stoddard: In answer to "Thirty-Five"—I think if I were in her position, I would make the acquaintance of my so-called lover's wife, to find out if he were really so unhappily married.

The wife need not know who "Thirty-Five" is. It will take strength to do it, but will prove to her just what some older married men are willing to do for married women.

They wouldn't swap their wives (generally the best ones) for a carload of Thirty-Fives. It's a so-called pipe dream.

INTERESTED READER.
This wife can't make up her mind what to think about her husband's behavior, or what to do about it. What advice do Journal readers have for her?

Dear Miss Stoddard: My husband is a doctor and is stepping out every chance he gets with a nurse. What would your suggestion be? Does he love me? Or does he love her? Does this call for a divorce? Gratefully, H.

The fact that your husband is a stranger to me and that I am not a mind reader would make it impossible for me to say whether your husband loves the nurse, or whether he's very much in love with anyone except himself.

Don't you know him well enough to draw him out as regards his feelings? As to whether his conduct calls for a divorce rests entirely with you. If he does love you, and you find that his philandering will be the cause of losing you, most certainly he will play fair.

PROGRAM THEME IS SELECTED
"Fitting Youth for a Changing World" will be the theme around which programs are to be arranged during the coming year by the Tustin High School Parent-Teacher association, it was decided Monday at meeting of the program committee.

Mrs. Mae Borum, chairman, was hostess to the group at her home, 309 A street, Tustin. She served refreshments at the close of the business session.

Those present included Mrs. Joseph Marshall, president of the P.-T. A., Mrs. Porter Luther, Mrs. Ernest Byrne, Miss Emma B. Held and Mrs. Borum.

CALUMPTITS PLAN DINNER TONIGHT, MANY EVENTS
A pot-luck supper tonight in Anaheim park, and other events to be held during September and October were planned last night at regular meeting of Calumpti auxiliary, U. S. W. V. in K. of C. hall.

Drill team members are to exemplify work at Pomona tonight, while other members and their families assemble at 6:30 o'clock for dinner. Several representatives of the auxiliary are to attend meeting of Long Beach unit.

First of a series of card parties for members and friends will begin Sept. 8, it was decided, and Sept. 20 was set for the Citrus Belt picnic. School of instruction is to be held Oct. 24, at 1816 Figueroa street, Los Angeles, with Ida Blakemore, senior department vice-president, in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Rowe received an automobile robe, in appreciation for their work in the drum corp and drill team. The gift was presented by Art Randall and Mrs. Hazel Hall.

WOMAN'S CLUB SOCIAL SECTION PICNIC TUESDAY
Social section of the Woman's club of Santa Ana will have a picnic luncheon Tuesday, Aug. 25, at Huntington Beach, members to gather at 12:30 o'clock.

Reservations are to be made with Mrs. C. R. Walters, 5385-W, and those desiring transportation are asked to call Mrs. R. J. Pagett, 2137-R.

ROEMERS FETED ON ANNIVERSARY
The forty-eighth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roemer, East Santa Clara avenue, was celebrated on Aug. 13, when members of the family held a picnic in their honor at Orange county park.

A daughter, Mrs. George Ragsdale of Orange, presented the couple with a large cake, decorated with the numerals "48."

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Ragsdale and Margaret, June, George, Dorothy and Donald Ragsdale, of Orange; Mrs. William Snyder and sons, George Lee and Allen, and Mrs. Jack Brady, all of Los Angeles, and the honored guests.

The play ends in a "jamaica," or Mexican carnival, under the olive trees in the patio of the theater.

Morrrows To Travel In The East

Mrs. Susan Rutherford and the E. S. Morrrows of Balboa will depart Monday for an extended trip with no definite destination or time limit, going by automobile and planning to visit many places of interest in a leisurely manner.

They will start northward, traveling by the coast route and the Redwood highway, then over the Columbia River highway to Spokane and on up to Glacier National park and through the Black Hills and Bad Lands.

On their way to Chicago, they will stop in Mrs. Morrrow's former home in Davenport, Ia. They plan to visit Niagara Falls and cross over into Canada, visiting Callander and the "quins," Montreal, and Quebec.

Their plans also include a trip to the Gaspe peninsula and Nova Scotia, the Green mountains and the White mountains of New England, and the Berkshires, with a visit to Mrs. Rutherford's relatives in the Berkshire country.

Other places to be visited are Boston, Cape Cod, New York, Washington, D. C., for a visit with Col. Rutherford, Virginia, the Great Smoky mountains of Tennessee, and as far south as Miami, Fla. Some time will be spent in Orlando, Mr. Morrrow's former home. The return trip will then be made by way of New Orleans and the southern route.

HOME BUILDERS GATHER IN ANAHEIM
Forty members and friends of the Home Builders' class of the First Christian church met at Anaheim park last night for a picnic dinner arranged by Mrs. Russell Adkinson and Mrs. J. O. Gullledge, hostesses for the evening.

After dinner, Freddy Engle of Anaheim, added to the enjoyment of the guests with a group of dialect readings, and the remainder of the evening was spent informally in the attractive outdoor setting.

D. U. V. PLANS POT-LUCK LUNCH
Daughters of Union Veterans of Sarah A. Rounds Tent No. 10 will meet Friday for a pot-luck luncheon at noon at the home of Mrs. Floyd Dunn, 206 South Esplanade, El Modena. Members are to take their own table service.

NEW USES FOR HONEY TO BE DEMONSTRATED

In preparation for a series of September demonstrations throughout Orange county showing "Uses of Honey in Cooking," members of Orange County Beekeepers' auxiliary will meet in the cooking laboratory of Orange intermediate school at 10 a. m. Friday, Aug. 21, for a training meeting conducted by Frances Liles, home demonstration agent.

A variety of cookies, breads, cakes, pie, candies and spreads will be made, using honey in place of part or all of sugar usually employed in such foods.

From the following group, teams will be selected to assist Miss Liles in demonstrations in the various centers of the county: Mesdames W. E. Adkinson, J. L. Brown, Lynn H. Crawford, H. J. Crawford, S. J. Crawford, B. M. Crawford, L. B. Crawford, P. L. Crump, Gilbert Davis, Jack Dobbins, Joseph Holtz, J. E. Pleasants, Gerald Twombly, N. F. Ritchey, Roy McQuillan, John Hirst, Charles K. Bishop, W. Leroy Bell, L. W. Bell and C. E. Lush.

DELTA CHI SIGMAS BAKE STEAKS AT PARK

Delta Chi Sigma sorority members held their meeting out at Irvine park Monday night, going out for a horseback ride and steak bake arranged by Mrs. Corwin Frazee, Miss Helen Mandersheid, and Miss Dorothy Hanna.

Enjoying the fun were the Misses Dorothy Cromer, Lucille Crawford, Dorothy Hanna, Charlene Kite, Helen Mandersheid, Betty Niedergall, Carol Smith, Vivian White, Alice Martin, Marjorie Sharpley, Lois Wagner, Marie McGinnis, and Mrs. Frazee and Mrs. Lloyd Mandersheid.

Plans for a series of rush parties will be discussed at next Monday night's meeting which will be held at the home of Miss Crawford and which will be featured by a book review.

KOOL KOOKERY

Dedicated to helping Santa Ana arrange cooling meals with a minimum effort and cooking, this column will present daily a recipe appropriate for hot-weather menus.

Mrs. Fred Perryman has a lemon sponge pie that sounds interesting, and simplifies processing by baking crust and filling together.

She creams a cup of sugar and a tablespoon of butter, adds two egg yolks, a cup of milk, two tablespoons of flour, the juice and grated rind of a lemon, and mixes well.

Then she folds in the stiffly-beaten whites of two eggs, pours the filling into the crust and bakes it in a slow oven.

Dr. Magill Writes About Her Experiences in Mexico

While stopping for several days in Cuernavaca, "The Palm Springs of Mexico," Dr. Peryll Magill, who is a scientist, and who has been a month with Miss Julia Magill, took time to write an interesting account of her trip to Dr. Mary E. Wright of 607 B West Walnut street, Santa Ana, giving her permission to enclose it in a news item.

The two travelers left their Santa Ana home July 23, driving to Mexico City over the newly completed highway, and expect to be home about Sept. 5.

Trip Was Comfortable
Her letter in part, describing Mexico and traveling conditions in that country, follows:

"We were just five and one-half days coming down and every bit of the trip was without inconvenience of any kind. We rather expected hot weather, but going to Phoenix the first night we missed all heat. Through New Mexico and Texas, the roads and weather were fine.

"One hundred miles below Laredo, the scenery and verdure changed perceptibly. A shrub, different from anything we have, but resembling heather from a distance and called zenizo plant, covered the hillsides and became thicker and thicker along the way-side until in places it was like an old rose blanket spread over everything.

Tropical Scenery
"We soon noticed Algaroba trees and lantanas, banana, wild guava, and many other tropical trees and plants. The scenery began reminding us of the first night we missed all heat. Through New Mexico and Texas, the roads and weather were fine.

"We reached Monterey Sunday evening, and there were many little pueblos along the streets, and the first thing we did was to buy a delicious big zapapaya, and proceeded to have a feast.

"The next two days' drive was through very tropical scenes, some almost jungle, and many different types of Indian villages. . . . We could always tell when we were approaching a village because we would begin passing people walking on the road, most of them carrying heavy loads on their backs, and many burrows carrying heavy loads, too.

Tree of Fireflies
"Our second night was spent at El Banito, in the heart of the jungle, and here we saw a tree, made famous by a display that seemed to be a convention hall for fireflies with millions and millions of fireflies gathered in it. The sound of their wings sounded like the distant murmur of the sea. There seems to be no explanation why so many choose that certain tree every night for their meeting place, and Mike George of El Banito, who pointed it out to us, said many of the best known scientific minds had failed to answer the question."

"We had heard so much of the 100-mile stretch of mountain road between Tamazunchale and Jacala we hardly knew what to expect, so we were pleasantly surprised to find it a splendid shape and not difficult at all. Before we got out of the mountains, it began to rain and we were in a downpour for about an hour.

Traffic Problem
"We first thought Mexico City a madhouse of traffic. Everything seemed a mystic maze. Most of the streets are one-way traffic and the people cross the streets any time or place."

"Our stay (in Mexico City) has been made very pleasant by Mexican friends, and we haven't missed anything so far. A week ago we drove 102 miles southeast to Taxco and intended only staying a day or so, but found such a delightful spot and climate so agreeable we stayed a week. During that time, there was an Indian festival which lasted three days.

"The church was the most beautiful I have ever seen. After the ceremonies in the church, there were music and fireworks in the streets. The idea seemed to be to have party of noise going all the time, and two nights it lasted almost the entire night.

Festival in Progress
"I tried to find out what the festival was honoring, but no one seemed to know, other than that it was to celebrate the day of the Father God."

"I wish I could describe the fireworks. They had what they called a 'torita' every evening. It was a large framework over the figure of a bull. A man carried this on his head and ran through the crowd of boys who chased him. The framework was covered with fuses which connected with fireworks of Roman candles and small rockets and spinwheels. You can imagine the scramble in the crowds when the rockets began shooting in every direction.

"We are spending several days in Cuernavaca. It seems to be the Palm Springs of Mexico, has the same balmy air but an elevation of about 5,000 feet.

Prosperity Prevails
"There is a general air of prosperity here, many beautiful hotels and the nicest markets we have seen."

"The prices of hotels are so very reasonable that that alone should be a big inducement for people to visit Mexico."

"I am so glad we are here this summer, for as yet Mexico is unspoiled, but everywhere we see evidences of new hotels, tourist camps, and gasoline stations, and I suppose it is only a question of time until the Indian women will be replacing their rebozos for American hats, etc."

"There is very little United States news in the newspapers here, so we know little of what is happening in the outside world, although I did note Santa Ana in one of the Mexican papers and read that the orange strike was settled."

PAPER QUIET ON SEVENTH STRIKE DAY

SEATTLE (AP)—Mayor John F. Dore is washing his hands of the Post-Intelligencer newsroom strike because the newspaper turned down his proposal for a conference which the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild accepted.

"I'm washing my hands of the business," said the mayor. "I don't care now if the P-I never publishes, and I think it would be a good thing for the town if it didn't."

The mayor's statement followed receipt of a letter from W. Vaughn Tanner, resident publisher of the Hearst-owned Post-Intelligencer, refusing the offer and telling Dore his first efforts should be directed toward maintaining "law and order."

The Post-Intelligencer plant was closed, with pickets and police surrounding it, as the strike entered its seventh day, with no end of the deadlock in sight, and no indication when publication, suspended for the sixth day, would be resumed.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

So our G-men—and gee, what men, too—want the new high-powered guns, capable of doing to the heart of an automobile what an automatic can do to the heart of a thug!

Well, now, our G-men have been doing pretty well at cutting notches on what guns they already have, so wonder if J. Edgar Hoover's boys hope to disable enemies' cars and "bring 'em back alive" in the future?

If so, why? We have no G-men to lose. They should have the latest guns, but instead of ruining an engine to take back a good gangster, why not ruin the gangster and take back a good high-powered automobile? It might make a good addition to police equipment.

I once heard of a prominent lecturer who greatly deplored the fact that cops were "packing guns and right out in plain sight!" He would send an officer out with only bare fists with a "chance" to make a hero of himself. Well, my dad used to say it was better to be a live coward than a dead hero, and dad usually had good advice! Give 'em the guns!

SAFETY LAWS FOR SUMMER ARE GIVEN

Traveling new and unfamiliar routes in response to the lure of the open road, vacation time often becomes accident time to thousands of touring motorists. Railroad crossings in particular are responsible for many summertime catastrophes.

Five simple rules for safety at railroad and highway intersections have been compiled by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. They are as follows:

Slow down or stop. Listen and look both ways; when one train passes, another may be coming.

Shift to low or second gear when crossing to diminish the possibility of stalling the motor on the tracks.

Don't try to beat a train over the crossing. Be doubly careful at night or on strange roads.

Crossing Warnings. Most grade crossing accidents occur at crossings protected with some form of warning, such as lights, wig-wags or flagmen, points out the club. Such warnings should be strictly obeyed by all drivers. One section of the law provides substantially as follows:

Whenever a driver approaches a railway grade crossing and a clearly visible electric or mechanical device gives warning of the immediate approach of a train, he must stop within 50 feet and not less than 10 feet of the nearest track. If he can proceed in safety he need not remain standing. But if a human flagman is giving the warning the driver must remain standing as long as the flagman continues to signal the approach or passage of a train.

George Dunton, local Ford dealer, points to the fact that this week is the fourth consecutive month domestic sales for Ford V-8 cars and trucks totaled more than 100,000 units. This continuation of high volume sales into mid-season represents a surprising reversal of the trend in former years.

Driver Arrested Following Crash

Having his car wrecked when it veered from the highway near Huntington Beach and plunged into an orange grove wasn't enough grief for Howard Hayes, 29, Oakland.

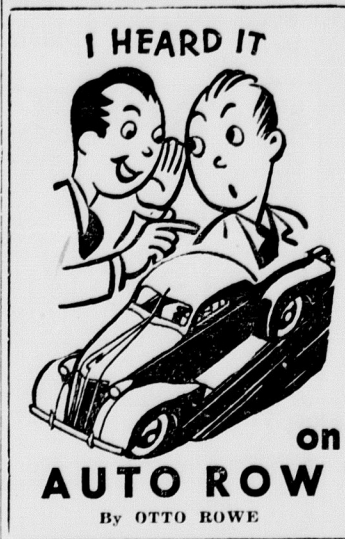

Hayes, pulling himself from the wreckage, found two deputy sheriffs waiting for him. He was booked at the county jail on drunk charges.

BURGLARIES IN ANAHEIM. Sheriff's officers joined Santa Ana police in worrying about burglaries today. J. S. Ward, Anaheim, reported his house had been ransacked and a German camera taken, and Alfonso Osuna, Anaheim beer parlor proprietor, said a sum of money had been taken from his cash register.

J. A. Hayes, manager of the Santa Ana Pontiac company, shows that the Pontiac Motor company realizes the seriousness of highway accidents by joining the safety drive being waged against the rising tide of automobile deaths by building into the 1936 "Silver Streak" sixes and eights a constant warning. Imprinted on the face of the speedometer dial near the 50 miles an hour mark the two potent words "Safety-First" offer a permanent reminder to the driver that excessive high speeds are dangerous.

Finally an auto company has entered the newest auto field. Pierce-Arrow Motor corporation, announces the formation of a new division to handle the production and sale of a complete line of tourist-type trailers. Besides marking the entry of the first automobile manufacturer into the trailer field, the move brings to the market the first trailer designed by automobile body and chassis engineers and built by automobile body craftsmen.

Ernie Fields, Dodge and Plymouth salesman for the L. D. Coffing company, invites every one to be at the Eddie Martin air port next Sunday morning at 8 o'clock to witness the "Spirit of Air Flow" on its initial flight.

The demonstration flight Sunday will start promptly at 8 a. m., and will consume approximately 15 minutes.

Automotive advertisers, which includes cars, trucks, accessories, gasoline, oils and tires, spent 60.8 per cent, or $34,515,000, of their 1935 appropriations in newspapers. Magazines got 26.2 per cent or $14,881,550 and 13 per cent or $7,415,325 went to radio. The total expenditure by 55 companies in this group was $56,811,875.

BUICK MAKES INCREASE IN JULY

FLINT, Mich.—Unusual expansion in the market for medium and upper medium priced automobiles was cited today by W. L. Gordon local Buick dealer as confirmation of the upward trend in buying habits and an indication of the return of purchasing power to the nation.

At the same time, the executive commented on the large share of that increase obtained by the Buick Motor company, the sales of Buick automobiles having accounted for more than one-fourth of the entire gain in registrations of the new cars priced above $700.

"According to latest available registration statistics, covering the first six months of the year, there has been a gain in 1936 over 1935 of 45.1 per cent in the sales of cars in the price groups referred to," Mr. Gordon said.

"As against this price class increase, Buick sales have shown a gain of approximately 140 per cent. Of a net gain of 181,200 units reported for the price groups as a whole, which include 19 makes of automobiles, Buick accounted for 47,900, or 26.1 per cent."

Sales of Buick cars are running in unusually heavy volume during the summer months, Mr. Gordon said, deliveries during July having been the largest experienced by the company during this month in seven years.

During the month, a total of 14,724 new cars were delivered at retail to customers in the United States as compared with 16,354 in June and 6002 in July a year ago. This was a decline of approximately 10 per cent from June, less than the average drop for this season, and a gain of 145 per cent over July, 1935.

Would Eliminate All Blind Intersections

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Franklin Lowney, managing director of the California Safety Council, with headquarters in Los Angeles and San Francisco, advocated the elimination of all blind intersections on highways as a means of preventing traffic deaths, in a recent talk before the San Diego traffic safety committee.

"It is an indisputable fact that many terrible crashes occur because of obstructions, such as trees, shrubs and structures of various sorts, that hinder visibility at arterial intersections," he said. "We are asking the cooperation of city, county and state governmental agencies in rounding off the corners at important intersections to improve visibility."

"This has been done to a large extent in London, Paris and Berlin, and it has reduced traffic hazards materially."

WATCH TRAINS ON VACATION

Train the mind to mind the train, suggests a National Safety Council bulletin received by the Automobile Club of Southern California public safety department.

Too often drivers will slow down for a crossing, then accelerate so forcibly they stall the motor. To avoid this, slow down and shift into second gear. If the engine dies you will be in gear and by letting out the clutch and stepping on the starter can at least chug your car off the tracks to safety.

Guard Against Car Mishaps at Home

Even around one's own home a driver must be most cautious in the handling of an automobile, notes the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Here are two safety suggestions:

1. Open garage doors wide before starting the motor; fresh air expels carbon monoxide.
2. Be sure the way is clear when backing the car out. Most tragic of accidents is that in which a child is struck by a vehicle being backed out of a driveway.

The hot springs of Yellowstone National park are unique in nature, in that water on the surface of many of these springs is hotter than boiling water.

ORANGE BOY PLACES IN CONTEST

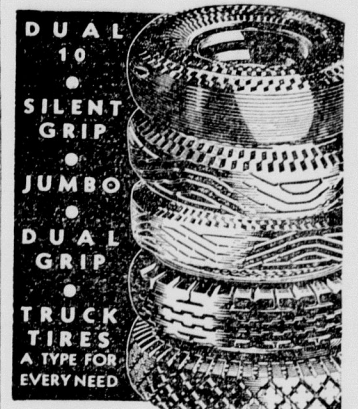

Miniature traveling coaches built by George Kelly, 16 years old, of Wilmington, and Herbert Miller, 18, of Emeryville, have been declared the winners in the junior and senior divisions, respectively, of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild apprentice class competition in California.

The model coaches constructed by both youths also triumphed over entries from other states in this region, winning for each a trip to the sixth convention of the General Motors-sponsored educational foundation, offered the builders of the coaches making the highest score in each age division. The convention will be held at Cleveland, Aug. 26-28, inclusive.

Second place honors in the junior division went to 15-year old MacNeil Stelle, of Los Angeles, while Jim Garoutte, 15, of Berkeley, took third. In the senior division, second place was won by Lawrence Miller, 17, of Emeryville, and third by Richard P. Longergan, 19-year-old San Francisco youth.

No Middle Road for Europe

MUSSOLINI'S mobilization of Italian air armadas for intervention on the side of the Spanish rebels, in case the socialistic government of France aids the loyalists, indicates that there is no middle road for Southern Europe. It's either Fascism or Communism.

Two alternatives face the people of Spain today—and only two. Victory for the rebels spells Fascism. Victory for the government opens the door to Communism.

Should Communism win, the country must inevitably swing into the depths that marked the revolution in Russia and be as slow in emerging as Russia has been—perhaps slower, if Spain does not produce leaders as strong as those who have guided the Russian experiment.

Should Spain turn Fascist, it means a government for the perpetuity though another form of the totalitarian state. If a man like Mussolini arises at the head of the government such improvement in the economic condition as Mussolini brought to Italy may in the end appear. The Mussolini example would point to another dream of restoration of ancient glories, of dominance among world powers that would cost so heavily as to still retard the economic advancement of the citizenry.

Nowhere apparent are there any leaders with a middle program which would compromise the differences between landlord and peasant, bring about readjustment of the economic balances and fit the people of the country for a position comparable with that of the democratic nations.

The contrast between the Central and Southern European countries and those of Northern Europe is marked.

In the Scandinavian countries peace prevails, literacy reigns, and the virtue of frugality is given its opportunity to provide comfort and well being for each family. In the former countries, liberty is a phantom, oppression prevails, opportunity is non-existent, and the violence of despair is always ready for unleashing.

And while Spain wars itself asunder, the great nations line up, Communist or Fascist, not on the grounds of what they consider best for Spain, but whether they prefer that nation to be under the influence of Russia or under the influence of Germany or Italy.

And then there was the fellow who knew nothing about baseball, but never missed a game. He was an umpire.

The World Rolls On

AFTER a lukewarm period, county politics is starting to simmer. There are indications that it might come to a boil before the primary election rolls around on Aug. 25.

Principal fracas is in the Democratic ranks, where President Stanley Clem of the Young Democrats has resigned in the interests of party harmony, after hurling a series of charges that the Orange county WPA is being run as a private political machine for "Ham" Cotton, state Democratic boss.

There are rumors of discontent in the Republican ranks, too, although the inner disputes have not reached the open stage they did during the Landon-Warren delegation fight.

It is a good thing for all voters to remember the well-known fact that most politicians are inclined to take themselves too seriously. They think their activities are the most vital things before the people. One party spokesman even said: "This political campaign is the most important since the founding of the republic."

But, as a matter of fact, parties and candidates are significant only as they reflect from time to time the changing economic and governmental ideals of the people.

The United States in general and Orange county in particular will muddle along somehow after the elections. It has always been so. If the people make a mistake they back water and toss a parcel of office holders out. If they are fairly well satisfied with the progress being made they re-elect.

This campaign will be important only insofar as it reflects which way public opinion is pointing; the personal fortunes of individual candidates are not of supreme importance to the people.

Now if the Hollywood lawyers will only keep still, we can forget all about the Astor-Thorne case.

Tax Cuts and Tax Boosts

THAT 5-cent cut in the city tax rate means relief for a lot of over-strained pocketbooks. The slash—taken along with the recent 7-cent cut in the county tax rate—calls attention again to the good work which our city and county officials are doing in the interests of public economy.

The city dads and supervisors have shown themselves to be better stewards of the funds under their control than have Governor Merriam and President Roosevelt. Our local officials have lowered expenses, while the state and national chiefs have boosted them. Efficiency and economy have proven worthwhile in Santa Ana and Orange county; they should be given a trial at Sacramento and Washington.

The fellow who's full of firewater is so hot.

That's a Long Time

WHEN Congressman Sweeney of Ohio introduced Father Coughlin at the priest's personal convention in Cleveland he termed him "the outstanding American of all time."

We nominate Mr. Sweeney as our Olympic entry for the running broad statement.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

The Rialto could not compete with the Cow Barn Circuit this summer and almost completely the shop.

O. O. McIntyre

Even such hits as "Victoria Regina" and "Idiot's Delight" The suburban stock company is no more an experiment, but a serious business. The finest players of the day the appearing in the hay-ropes, and they are the testing grounds of such nestlings as Mary Rogers, Martha Hodge and Constance Morrow, plumbing faltering wings for the eventual Broadway flight. Producers try out plays at small cost. As low as $200.

In the past three years several Broadway hits have been salvaged from this generating ground and any number of successful players owe their sudden fame to discovery out among the hedges. This season there were more than 100 companies installed on Long Island, Jersey shores, in Connecticut and Maine.

The floor show cabarets on Broadway were yanked out of the usual summer doldrums by featuring "come-backs"—such as Benny Fields, John Steele and the 70-year-old Joe Howard. They pulled in typical Broadway crowds that failed to be wangled by newer faces on the Milton Berles, Faith Bacon and such. The gesture expresses the same ineradicable streak of mawkish sentimentality that used to make mobsters and fancy ladies cry into their beer over mother songs. As much a part of the street as the lights.

The harmonica is no more the whining horror of the back of the hand and slum curb. Borrah Mineevitch gave it its first leg-up by organizing his gang of ragamuffins into a symphonic hole. And appearing by command before a king. But a talented sprig named Larry Adler has introduced the mouth organ into the drawing rooms of the Gold Coast. He was the outstanding hit of the Queen Mary entertainers on her maiden voyage and kept a hand-picked crowd at a Jules Glaesner shindig up until almost dawn, wailing a variation of classical and swing tunes. His records are on the biggest selling list and he is able to command $500 for a private performance. And is just 20.

Metamorphosis: We were remembering when today the girl in our town, a pig-tailed, ginghamed and pretty-headed, had a merry hello for everybody and was about the most popular. Then one summer she was on a three-week visit to Baltimore. She came back with a patronizing "howdy dew," refused to go to parties and instead of kibbooting around the youngsters on band concert night sat primly in the family carriage. Travel broadened her but she grew so thin she became a vinegary old maid. And now she lives across the tracks and has a pig sty in her front yard.

Of all the Russian refugees who have found shelter in New York, Grand Duchess Marie, whose blood likely runs the most truly royal, has made the greatest impression. She has never hardened friends with sighs for the past, but is a model of cheer. As a saleswoman in a haughty avenue dressmaking establishment she has in her sales contacts shown all the democracy of her less illustrious sisters. She has written a book, has another in preparation and has broadcast. Once fabulously rich, she has been desperately poor and never soured. The only living duchess to make good in a commercial way. Or so I am told.

A friend in writing a romantic novel which will have as its background the days of Weber and Fields, Martin's Delmonico's and tea at a Claremont window overlooking the Hudson. He was sounding out for a title last night and this one—which struck me as a honey—was suggested by Howard Acton: "Low Neck Hack!"

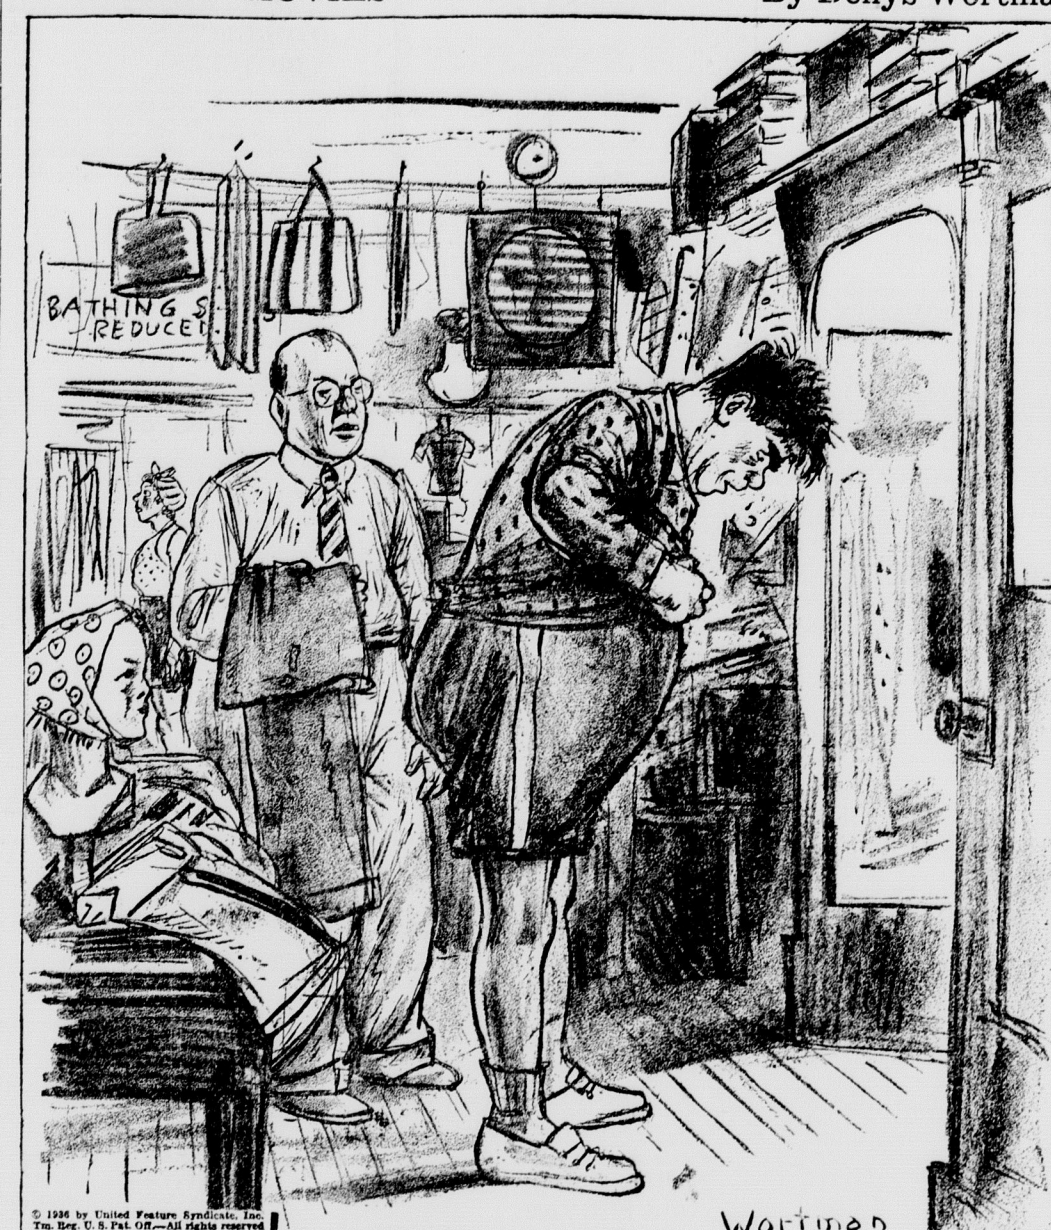

I talked last evening to a professional torch singer, a sloe-eyed lady with glossy bangs, deeply kohled eyes and a slinky walk. One for whom the lights are dimmed while she broadcasts despair on wavering notes. I wondered if she had ever suffered the tortures that seemed to ratch her lyrically. She confessed she had never been in love nor expected to be. She has been too busy cutting. Just another illusion gone. They should tie me up at night and not let me mess around with torch singers anyway.

Science News

The action of the pituitary gland has never been completely understood, although some of its functions are well known. Dr. E. M. Gelling, of the University of Chicago, is making extensive studies of this gland and its secretions at the present time. He is off Queen Charlotte Island, collecting pituitary glands of whales. Why? Because the whale is a mammal, as is man, and because the pituitary gland in a whale is 100 times as large as that in a man, which affords excellent study.

"The size is right, but I really had my heart set on a pair of RED shorts."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WEST MIDDLESEX, Pa.—Get out your route map of Pennsylvania. Unfold it until the western part of the state is before you. About 65 miles northwest of Pittsburgh and a few miles east of the Ohio state line, you will find West Middlesex, a small town made famous by this year's Republican convention.

It was in West Middlesex that Governor Landon first saw the light of day, Sept. 9, 1887, and it is here that he will open his presidential campaign with an address on Saturday.

West Middlesex, population 1181, is a sleepy little borough located in the heart of a prosperous farming community. It has a dozen or so stores, numerous gas stations, a restaurant and saloon combined, a national bank, no hotel, and it does not support a newspaper. But the patrons of the three barber shops make up for that deficiency.

At the entrance of the borough, on Route 18, there is a sign—"This is the birthplace of Alf Landon." It stopped at the first gas station: "Shall I fill her up?" "Five gallons is enough." "You're a stranger in town?" "Yes."

"Did you know this was the birthplace of Gov. Alf Landon?" Yes, sir, this is the birthplace of the next president of the United States. He was born over in that house across the street. You will see a sign on it. Walk over and see it while I am filling 'er up."

LANDON'S NURSE

"Do you know Landon?" "Oh, I don't know him, but there are some people here who do. There is an old lady here who acted as nurse at the time of his birth. She remembers him. Her name is Mary Baird."

"Does she live here in town?" "No, about three miles west. Go down the hill, cross the bridge, and out about three miles you will strike another concrete road. Turn to the right. It is the first house on the left."

Following directions, I soon arrived at the farmhouse and inquired of the lady who was sweeping the steps, "Does Mary Baird live here?" "Yes, she is my daughter. She is inside the house." A very attractive young lady of about 21 years stepped to the door. "Ahem, guess there must be a mistake, or else your looks belie your years. You weren't the nurse at Gov. Landon's birth?" "I should say not," was the laughing reply. It must have been the gas station man in Middlesex that sent you here. He is always doing things like that. I don't know why. Last week he sent a family from Topeka, Kan., here on the same mission. My name is Mary Baird, but the one you want is a good lady, a widow, about 85 years old, a distant relative of our family. She lives on West Main street, just at the end of the pavement. Go and see her. She is a delightful old lady."

JUST AN ORDINARY BABY

Following the new directions, we found the original Mary Baird in a plain but scrupulously neat home. Despite her 85 years she has very good health, and is spry and active. She lives alone, does her own housework, tends her own vegetable garden, and this year has raised a wealth of beautiful flowers.

"Yes," she said, "I was the nurse at the birth of Alf Landon. The Landons lived in the oil country near Marietta, Ohio, at that time, but Mrs. Landon was here visiting her parents when Alf was born. "I remember the occasion well," continued Mrs. Baird. "He was just an ordinary child. Kicked and cried and squaled just like any other child, and there was nothing at that time to impress one that he might some day be president of the United States."

"He is a nice man, though. I hear from him occasionally. On each birthday he sends me two dozen roses, and I have a letter from him stating that when he is out this way he is going to call on me. I am looking forward to meeting him on Saturday. It is going to be a great day for West Middlesex, and it is going to be the event of my life. I must conserve my strength so as to be on hand that day."

The whole town of West Middlesex is agog with excitement. Homes are being painted, the women-folk are washing windows and tidying up the yards, and the men are meeting daily at general headquarters on Main street, where plans are being worked out to handle the crowds. They expect at least 100,000 people and are preparing to take care of fully 150,000.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

General P. D. "Happy" Glassford, one-time police chief of Washington, is doing more than merely run for the congressional seat of Arizona's Isabella Greenway. He is cleaning up the town of Phoenix, Ariz., and in doing so, sent a report to the town council naming the names of those who rent out their property as houses of ill-fame . . . WPA reports proudly that one Fred Eisenstadt of Brooklyn, after taking the Harry Hopkins course in creative writing, has sold four short stories and begun conducting a newspaper column . . . The weather bureau is experimenting with a robot weather observer that sails up into the stratosphere in a balloon and flashes weather reports back to earth by radio. It is called a radiometeorograph . . . Department of agriculture frowns on debts, warns employees that if they want to keep their jobs, they had better pay as they go . . . The bureau of standards can tell you when your shoes are going to wear out. They have a "walking machine" which reproduces the strain on shoes produced by ordinary walking . . . The new yearbook of the department of agriculture features a picture of that eighteenth century periwigged pamphleteer, Cotton Mather, as one of the pioneers in corn breeding . . . A steam engine run by the sun will be exhibited at the world power conference in Washington the week of Sept. 7 . . . A greenhouse in the air is the latest project of Henry Wallace's agriculture experts. It will be built atop the department's south building, seven floors above street level . . . TVA is crusading against automobile accidents among its workers, finds that in the first six months of this year their rate was 2.42 accidents per 100,000 miles traveled.

LAUDS WPA PROBE

To the Editor: Undoubtedly the most progressive move in local politics made in some time is the recent activities of the Young Democratic league in attempting to expose some of the offensive tactics in the local WPA offices. While I am not a Democrat, I can heartily offer them my sincere congratulations on their stand.

Perhaps if less time was spent by some of the WPA officials in playing politics more time might be found to expedite the routine matters that confront them in their offices, to the general benefit of all local WPA workers.

Knowing what I speak, several instances have been brought to my attention of delay in the receiving of much needed checks, brought about by the negligence of officials. While it has yet to be proved, in the case I have in mind, whether the fault lies in the local office or further up along the line, undoubtedly an investigation here will tend to clarify matters in other districts.

If the thought could be brought to mind that "we are all eating out of the same trough" and the realization that were it not for the unemployment crisis in this country that neither the official OR his subordinate would be thus employed the situation might possibly change. Strange, what a little power can do for a person.

ORKEHS PARKING METERS

To the Editor: As a visitor from El Paso, which has parking meters, I can see the same objections being raised to them by the people of Santa Ana that we first made. In a recent editorial you mentioned all the protests which we first heard in El Paso, but those protests have vanished now, and nine people out of 10 are glad that the meters were installed.

My husband and I objected vigorously to the meters at first, but I am happy to say we were wrong, and now it is a pleasure to be able to drive uptown to shop and find a parking place in any block. The meters have been installed for the woman who has to spend 5 cents' worth of gasoline and a lot of time and energy driving around looking for a place to light.

Howdy, folks! L'il Gee Gee says she doesn't care if the stone fireplace in her new beach shack has fallen down.

"I can use the stones for building a rock garden," she points out.

Every time L'il Gee Gee returns from an afternoon on the beach, she empties her shoes, and soon she declares, she will have enough pebbles to make a gravel walk around her cottage. z z z

GOOPYGRAM

In the game it's GRIT, in spinach it's terrible.

If the voting public in America ever swears off bunk, it will be because some super-buncomer has found something more effective.

Americans who go to Europe to study the manners and customs of the people object to both as soon as they land.

The danger point in a young man's life comes when a girl would rather eat salted coffee and rolls with him than lozenges and biscuit tortoni with somebody else.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

The Prayer of the Voter

GOD OF our Fathers: To have a part, however slight, in shaping the destiny of our state is a sacred privilege. Impress this firmly on our minds to the end that we neglect not the exercise of this great right. Other peoples here and there throughout the world struggle in vain for self-expression. In many, many places the lamp of liberty flickers fitfully in smothering gloom. Help us, our Father, to realize more than ever the precious heritage which is ours.

Many people neglect the solemn duty of casting their votes. They are too busy, or too indifferent, or too cynical, or too tired. They say that politics is too corrupt for them to touch. They fear defilement if they take their ballot into a polling booth. They prefer, seemingly, to grumble about conditions rather than to take an active part in remedying those conditions. Help us, our Father, to understand the necessity of cleansing the public service by a great flood of ballots on election day. Here is one place, at least, where all men are equal; one day in the year when every man is a king.

Help us, our Father, to have discerning eyes that we may clearly distinguish the candidates before us. That we may penetrate the smoke-screens and dust-clouds which political machinery throws up to fool the people and confuse the issues. The great heart of our people is sound. They love their native land and wish to preserve its greatness and goodness. They want men in public office who will dare to champion Americanism. They want "men whom the lust of office cannot kill; men whom the spoils of office cannot buy; men who possess opinions and a will; men who have honor, men who will not lie.

May we learn to cut out candidates who have axes to grind. Those false prophets who dig themselves in and fatten at the public expense.

Help us, our Father, to have the wisdom and the courage to throw away the candidates who dodge this way and that, who shrink from meeting the issues of the day, who cannot call their souls their own. We are beginning to understand that most of our public problems would find ready solution if wise and fearless men, with honest and patriotic motives, would guide the ship of state. Deficits would shrink, debts would diminish, social and economic burdens would roll away under such leadership.

A dozen men, even two or three, men with courage, wisdom and devotion could do much to set our state business in order to the advantage of every citizen. Give us the good sense, our Father, to choose such legislators. Amen.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

According to an authority one of the best traffic violation offenders is the presence of an officer. Drivers inclined to speed take their foot off the gas when the motorcycle man is present. This authority argues that ample policing is a good investment in human safety. There is something to it. Just frankly speaking what is your habit when you feel that the motorcycle officer is not in sight? The old foot presses down on the accelerator and in a few moments the car is going faster than the law permits. You've got good brakes and you think you can stop, but you neglected to figure out how much distance you cover before you can stop the car. Before that happens, well, so does the accident. Guess we all behave better when the sword of Damocles hangs over our head.

"Parking meters are just another form of taxation," says one of the "agitors" to the proposed system. What I thought about it was neutral. I don't park. I just keep movin'.

What I am trying to figure out is what influence does a radio have on a game of miniature golf, at least in the way of improvement—if any. I know what it has on temperance, and it's bad. So the query arises as to the necessity of music, how much, and more particularly—HOW LOUD? This department has commended miniature golf, its out-of-door benefits and recreational advantages, its wholesome environment and compensating pleasure, but why it has to be supplemented by a loud-voiced radio seems incompatible with the environment. Especially is this so when someone who is not interested in the game wants to go by-bye into slumberland.

George Vest displays for my discomfort a tarantula which was captured by a Mexican boy in his perambulations over the rural districts. I have not decided why Vest called my attention to the inflated spider, but I prefer to select my own sleeping partner. Boy, one of those tarantulas has so many business ends attached to its storage system that it looks like a high voltage line.

Bill May is in Washington, D. C., making some changes in the White House for a new tenant, so he writes. He has been in Pennsylvania visiting the scenes of his childhood, where fond recollections bring to view the old swimmin' hole, and I naturally suppose a few wellow switches, although Bill did not mention anything about those early stimulations so sedately and vigorously applied by "my old man." May also favors Nebraska with a few steps, although not invited to do so by Senator Norris. He is an independent sort, so he just stops where he pleases.

The Republicans are going to put on a barbecue at Orange County park, next Saturday, and frankly for the purpose of raising funds for which to conduct the campaign. The Democrats have been raising funds, and if both parties collect money the political horse race should be interesting, as it takes money to make the horses go. I found that out at Santa Anita last year.

A midwest correspondent informs me that his particular locality in the protected spots the farmer will have enough seed corn for next year. That's fine, but there is still too much intervening time to ask the hogs to wait.

It seems like Councilman Layton started something and then left town, but the trouble will be here when he gets home. This meter marking plan has as many angles as a modernistic art picture. You know, like the one they hung upside down and it got the prize. If you don't like it, you can vote "agin' it," and if you favor it you can declare by ballot which appears in The Journal. It's only a test sentiment.

Frank Henderson, the superintendent of schools, and Fred Rowland, the mayor, discover my embryonic individuality hanging over a bank counter, and suggest that I leave before someone loans me money. The suggestion was a good one, but it came too late.

The pedestrian frequency, the increased risk, and the velocity of the automobile at Fifth and Main suggests the installation of a traffic signal which should synchroize with Fourth and Main streets. There is an inclination to step on the gas the instant the car is outside of the traffic control. By the time a driver out of Fourth and Main gets to Fifth and Main he's goin' some. And if approaching from the opposite direction he's going much more. The situation at the point mentioned, both in the interest of the pedestrian and the autoist. When it comes to making suggestions I'm the busy little suggestor—but the council makes the decisions.
